CORE APPENDICES

FOR

BAKKE GRADUATE UNIVERSITY

The following appendices are linked to all of Bakke Graduate University (BGU) catalogs, handbooks, etc., in order to provide a more detailed description of the brief summaries contained in those documents.

Appendix 1. BGU's History

1990 - Founded at Overlake Christian Church

BGU was founded in 1990 by Overlake Christian Church in Seattle, Washington under the name Northwest Graduate School of the Ministry (NWGS). “The need for the school grew out of the annual pastors’ conferences held at Overlake Christian Church in the 1980s and 1990s. The pastoral staff at Overlake received hundreds of requests from pastors seeking practical advice to meet the daily challenges of local church ministry. It became evident that there was a felt need for a graduate school that focused on the practical skills required for effective local church ministry. The eldership met, committed the financial support and facilities and birthed the school in 1990.”¹

The roots of NWGS were planted in one church, with a target to serve the Northwest United States and a focus on building practical skills for local church ministry. As changes in ministry priorities began to shift, new leadership and direction was needed for the school. In the summer of 2001, ownership of NWGS passed from Overlake Christian Church to an independent board organized through the cooperation of:

Anchor Churches – a group of local Seattle churches, including the original host church for NWGS, who provided, leadership and students to the school;

Coalition for Community Development and Renewal – a citywide organization of church leaders dedicated to empowering urban leaders and creating bridges between urban and suburban church leaders;

International Urban Associates (IUA) – theological and ministry leaders on five continents focusing on urban challenges;

Northwest Leadership Foundation – an intermediary organization located in Tacoma, WA, providing community development, networking, and other resources to urban ministries in the Seattle-Tacoma area;

Serve Seattle – an organization that organized events to serve Seattle-area pastors; plus

¹ As quoted in the NWGS strategic plan, April 7, 2000 prepared by interim President Thomas Adelsman.

Numerous other local Seattle urban, church, education and business leaders, and key staff members from the previous organization.

2001 - New Leadership with a Global Network

Under the leadership of this newly organized board, NWGS retained its strong commitment to biblical truth and practical ministry but expanded its emphasis toward urban challenges and a global constituency. Through its connections with the IUA's networks, NWGS hosted its first international cohort of students in partnership with Carey Seminary in Canada and AGST, a consortium of seminaries in the Philippines. This first cohort began in June 2001 with twenty-three doctoral students who attended class in January 2002 in Hong Kong and China. A second international cohort started in June of 2002 with thirty-six doctoral students also attending classes internationally. By early 2004, NWGS had a total of 170 enrolled students, approximately 140 in the DMin program and approximately 30 in the MTS program.

2003 - Relationship to IUA

As NWGS began the process of growing into its new identity, one of the key questions that surfaced was its relationship with the International Urban Associates (IUA). Both organizations shared a common set of values, and IUA provided the core network for faculty and student recruitment. After a lengthy process of discussion, prayer, thought and negotiation, in the spring of 2003, IUA and NWGS agreed to pursue a merger. Under the leadership of Brad Smith who served as the Executive Director of IUA and the President of NWGS, the boards of both NWGS and IUA disbanded and reformed under one common board overseeing the two distinct organizations. The new structure included:

1. Board of Directors made up of business, government, and other leaders who could better hold the organization accountable to its mission, vision, values, and business practices and secure the donations required by each organization.
2. Board of Regents as an academic advisory council that takes advantage of the unique strengths of the international urban leaders whose vision formed much of the programs of both organizations.

May 2005 – One Organization with A New Name – Bakke Graduate University of Ministry

By May 2005 the merger was completed as both organizations combined under the new name of Bakke Graduate University of Ministry (BGU). The roots of the new name were explained in the following e-letter that was sent to a group of over 11,000 people, including students, alumni, donors, faculty, and the general public:

2005-2011 – New Degrees in Response to an Emerging Global Leaders:

During the next six years BGU engaged world leaders in focus-groups, face-to-face urban immersions, and planning meetings to determine how the synergy between theology, business and urban studies could best serve these leaders. While early BGU students tended to reflect the role of Ray Bakke, who was a professor and international speaker, by 2005 BGU began increasingly to attract students with significant organizational roles who desired a greater global perspective as they led locally. Students began to request more mentoring, courses, and networking to equip them for roles in local government, churches, business and non-profits.

BGU responded to this growing group of students by developing new degrees beyond the DMin and MTL. In 2008, BGU received authorization from the Washington Higher Education Coordinating Board to offer its new MBA and MASCE degrees, and in 2012 received authorization to offer the DTL degree. In March of 2020, BGU was authorized to offer its newest degree, a PhD in Innovative Urban Leadership.

In November of 2022, BGU received a renewal in its accreditation for the Transnational Association of Christian Colleges and Schools (TRACS) based on the 10-year review that was conducted in June of that year.

2012-2018 – Re-envisioning To Better Align with BGU’s Mission and Values

In the fall of 2011, BGU’s Board of Regents meeting in Budapest Hungary asked for increased BGU initiatives to reduce developing world student dependency upon western scholarships and increase the involvement of BGU international alumni through mentoring and expanded use of technology in teaching students. Named “BGU 3.0,” the goal was to increasingly move from a school located in the US with international influence to a truly global school with authority, responsibility and accountability decentralized through the global BGU family. Throughout 2012, BGU went through a process of significant change in response to a need to be more sustainable and to respond to needs expressed by BGU’s international student and faculty constituency. The Seattle-based staff was reduced to trim costs and to implement a more international footprint of staff and faculty. The June 2012 graduating class was the largest in BGU’s history (142 graduates) as efforts were made to ensure that legacy students who had over 50% scholarships were able to finish their degrees before these large scholarships were no longer available.

As a result of these changes, BGU in 2013 and beyond has increased its sustainability through a much more decentralized base of tuition support and has developed ways to move beyond platforming a handful of mostly USA-based faculty to a larger platform utilizing teachers and mentors from its global network and its alumni base of 800 leaders with BGU doctorate and master’s degrees.

2019-2024 – Re-envisioning and Growth

BGU is currently pursuing initiatives to improve BGU’s online campus, synchronous course delivery across multiple time zones, better use of local Personal Learning Communities to provide intensive student support, increased use of regional academic mentors and better utilization of BGU’s network of alumni and subject matter experts in fields of study desired by current students. BGU is also utilizing its global network to host on-site city immersions and locally based face-to-face cohorts to provide students the best exposure to God’s work around the globe while growing in their local relationships and community connections.

Appendix 2.

The Lausanne Covenant or Faith Statement

The Lausanne Covenant serves as the founding and on-going statement of faith and theological core of BGU. Faculty, board members, staff, and students pursuing direct theological degrees are expected to be in agreement with this statement. Students pursuing other degrees are expected to respect this statement.

Introduction

We, members of the Church of Jesus Christ, from more than 150 nations, students in the International Congress on World Evangelization at Lausanne, praise God for his great salvation and rejoice in the fellowship he has given us with himself and with each other. We are deeply stirred by what God is doing in our day, moved to penitence by our failures and challenged by the unfinished task of evangelization. We believe the Gospel is God's good news for the whole world, and we are determined by his grace to obey Christ's commission to proclaim it to all mankind and to make disciples of every nation. We desire, therefore, to affirm our faith and our resolve, and to make public our covenant.

1. The Purpose of God

We affirm our belief in the one-eternal God, Creator and Lord of the world, Father, Son and Holy Spirit, who govern all things according to the purpose of his will. He has been calling out from the world a people for himself, and sending his people back into the world to be his servants and his witnesses, for the extension of his Kingdom, the building up of Christ's body, and the glory of his name. We confess with shame that we have often denied our calling and failed in our mission, by becoming conformed to the world or by withdrawing from it. Yet we rejoice that even when borne by earthen vessels the Gospel is still a precious treasure. To the task of making that treasure known in the power of the Holy Spirit we desire to dedicate ourselves anew.

(Isa. 40:28; Matt. 28:19; Eph. 1:11; Acts 15:14; John 17:6, 18; Eph 4:12; 1 Cor. 5:10; Rom. 12:2; 2 Cor. 4:7)

2. The Authority and Power of the Bible

We affirm the divine inspiration, truthfulness and authority of both Old and New Testament Scriptures in their entirety as the only written word of God, without error in all that it affirms, and the only infallible rule of faith and practice. We also affirm the power of God's word to accomplish his purpose of salvation. The message of the Bible is addressed to all men and women. For God's revelation in Christ and in Scripture is unchangeable. Through it the Holy Spirit still speaks today. He illumines the minds of God's people in every culture to perceive its truth freshly through their own eyes and thus discloses to the whole Church ever more of the many-colored wisdom of God.

(2 Tim. 3:16; 2 Pet. 1:21; John 10:35; Isa. 55:11; 1 Cor. 1:21; Rom. 1:16, Matt. 5:17, 18; Jude 3; Eph. 1:17, 18; 3:10, 18)

3. The Uniqueness and Universality of Christ

We affirm that there is only one Savior and only one Gospel, although there is a wide diversity of evangelistic approaches. We recognize that everyone has some knowledge of God through his general revelation in nature. But we deny that this can save, for people suppress the truth by their unrighteousness. We also reject as derogatory to Christ and the Gospel every kind of syncretism and dialogue which implies that Christ speaks equally through all religions and ideologies. Jesus Christ, being himself the only God-man, who gave himself as the only ransom for sinners, is the only mediator between God and people. There is no other name by which we must be saved. All men and women are perishing because of sin, but God loves everyone, not wishing that any should perish but that all should repent. Yet those who reject Christ repudiate the joy of salvation and condemn themselves to eternal separation from God. To proclaim Jesus as “the Savior of the world” is not to affirm that all people are either automatically or ultimately saved, still less to affirm that all religions offer salvation in Christ. Rather it is to proclaim God’s love for a world of sinners and to invite everyone to respond to him as Savior and Lord in the wholehearted personal commitment of repentance and faith. Jesus Christ has been exalted above every other name; we long for the day when every knee shall bow to him and every tongue shall confess him Lord.

(Gal. 1:6-9; Rom. 1:18-32; 1 Tim. 2:5,6; Acts 4:12; John 3:16-19; 2 Pet. 3:9; 2 Thess. 1:7-9; John 4:42; Matt. 11:28; Eph. 1:20,21; Phil. 2:9-11)

4. The Nature of Evangelism

To evangelize is to spread the good news that Jesus Christ died for our sins and was raised from the dead according to the Scriptures, and that as the reigning Lord he now offers the forgiveness of sins and the liberating gifts of the Spirit to all who repent and believe. Our Christian presence in the world is indispensable to evangelism, and so is that kind of dialogue whose purpose is to listen sensitively in order to understand. But evangelism itself is the proclamation of the historical, biblical Christ as Savior and Lord, with a view to persuading people to come to him personally and so be reconciled to God. In issuing the Gospel invitation we have no liberty to conceal the cost of discipleship. Jesus still calls all who would follow him to deny themselves, take up their cross, and identify themselves with his new community. The results of evangelism include obedience to Christ, incorporation into his Church and responsible service in the world.

(1 Cor. 15:3, 4; Acts 2: 32-39; John 20:21; 1 Cor. 1:23; 2 Cor. 4:5; 5:11, 20; Luke 14:25-33; Mark 8:34; Acts 2:40, 47; Mark 10:43-45)

5. Christian Social Responsibility

We affirm that God is both the Creator and the Judge of all men. We therefore should share his concern for justice and reconciliation throughout human society and for the liberation of men and women from every kind of oppression. Because men and women are made in the image of God, every person, regardless of race, religion, color, culture, class, sex or age, has an intrinsic dignity because of which he or she should be respected and served, not exploited. Here too we express penitence both for our neglect and for having sometimes regarded evangelism and social concern as mutually exclusive. Although reconciliation with other people is not reconciliation with God, nor is social action evangelism, nor is political liberation salvation, nevertheless we affirm that evangelism and socio-political involvement are both part of our Christian duty. For both are necessary expressions of our doctrines of God and man, our love for our neighbor and our obedience to Jesus Christ. The message of salvation implies also a message of judgment upon every form of alienation, oppression and discrimination, and we should not be afraid to denounce evil and injustice wherever they exist. When people receive Christ they are born again into his Kingdom and must seek not only to exhibit but also to spread its righteousness in the midst of an unrighteous world. The salvation we claim should be transforming us in the totality of our personal and social responsibilities. Faith without works is dead.

(Acts 17:26, 31; Gen. 18:25; Isa. 1:17; Psa. 45:7; Gen. 1:26, 27; Jas. 3:9; Lev. 19:18; Luke 6:27, 35; Jas. 2:14-26; John 3:3, 5; Matt. 5:20; 6:33; 2 Cor. 3:18; Jas. 2:20)

6. The Church and Evangelism

We affirm that Christ sends his redeemed people into the world as the Father sent him, and that this calls for a similar deep and costly penetration of the world. We need to break out of our ecclesiastical ghettos and permeate non-Christian society. In the Church's mission of sacrificial service evangelism is primary. World evangelization requires the whole Church to take the whole Gospel to the whole world. The Church is at the very center of God's cosmic purpose and is his appointed means of spreading the Gospel. But a church which preaches the cross must itself be marked by the cross. It becomes a stumbling block to evangelism when it betrays the Gospel or lacks a living faith in God, a genuine love for people, or scrupulous honesty in all things including promotion and finance. The church is the community of God's people rather than an institution, and must not be identified with any particular culture, social or political system, or human ideology.

(John 17:18; 20:21; Matt. 28:19,20; Acts 1:8; 20:27; Eph. 1:9,10; 3:9-11; Gal. 6:14,17; 2 Cor. 6:3,4; 2 Tim. 2:19-21; Phil. 1:27)

7. Cooperation in Evangelism

We affirm that the Church's visible unity in truth is God's purpose. Evangelism also summons us to unity, because our oneness strengthens our witness, just as our disunity undermines our gospel of reconciliation. We recognize, however, that organizational unity may take many forms and does not necessarily forward evangelism. Yet we who share the same biblical faith should be closely united in fellowship, work and witness. We confess that our testimony has sometimes been marred by a sinful individualism and needless duplication. We pledge ourselves to seek a deeper unity in truth, worship, holiness and mission. We urge the development of regional and functional cooperation for the furtherance of the Church's mission, for strategic planning, for mutual encouragement, and for the sharing of resources and experience.

(John 17:21, 23; Eph. 4:3, 4; John 13:35; Phil. 1:27; John 17:11-23)

8. Churches in Evangelistic Partnership

We rejoice that a new missionary era has dawned. The dominant role of western missions is fast disappearing. God is raising up from the younger churches a great new resource for world evangelization, and is thus demonstrating that the responsibility to evangelize belongs to the whole body of Christ. All churches should therefore be asking God and themselves what they should be doing both to reach their own area and to send missionaries to other parts of the world. A reevaluation of our missionary responsibility and role should be continuous. Thus a growing partnership of churches will develop and the universal character of Christ's Church will be more clearly exhibited. We also thank God for agencies which labor in Bible translation, theological education, the mass media, Christian literature, evangelism, missions, church renewal and other specialist fields. They too should engage in constant self-examination to evaluate their effectiveness as part of the Church's mission.

(Rom. 1:8; Phil. 1:5; 4:15; Acts 13:1-3, 1 Thess. 1:6-8)

9. The Urgency of the Evangelistic Task

More than 2,700 million people, which are more than two-thirds of all humanity, have yet to be evangelized. We are ashamed that so many have been neglected; it is a standing rebuke to us and to the whole Church. There is now, however, in many parts of the world an unprecedented receptivity to the Lord Jesus Christ. We are convinced that this is the time for churches and parachurch agencies to pray earnestly for the salvation of the unreached and to launch new efforts to achieve world evangelization. A reduction of foreign missionaries and money in an evangelized country may sometimes be necessary to facilitate the national Church's growth in self-reliance and to release resources for unevangelized areas. Missionaries should flow ever more freely from and to all six continents in a spirit of humble service. The goal should be, by all available means and at the earliest possible time, that every person will have the opportunity to hear, understand, and to receive the good news. We cannot hope to attain this goal without sacrifice. All of us are shocked by the poverty of millions and disturbed by the injustices which cause it. Those of us who live in affluent circumstances accept our duty to develop a simple life-style in order to contribute more generously to both relief and evangelism.

(John 9:4; Matt. 9:35-38; Rom. 9:1-3; 1 Cor. 9:19-23; Mark 16:15; Isa. 58:6, 7; Jas. 1:27; 2:1-9; Matt. 25:31-46; Acts 2:44, 45; 4:34, 35)

10. Evangelism and Culture

The development of strategies for world evangelization calls for imaginative pioneering methods. Under God, the result will be the rise of churches deeply rooted in Christ and closely related to their culture. Culture must always be tested and judged by Scripture. Because men and women are God's creatures, some of their culture is rich in beauty and goodness. Because they are fallen, all of it is tainted with sin and some of it is demonic. The Gospel does not presuppose the superiority of any culture to another, but evaluates all cultures according to its own criteria of truth and righteousness, and insists on moral absolutes in every culture. Missions have all too frequently exported with the Gospel an alien culture and churches have sometimes been in bondage to culture rather than to Scripture. Christ's evangelists must humbly seek to empty themselves of all but their personal authenticity in order to become the servants of others, and churches must seek to transform and enrich culture, all for the glory of God.

(Mark 7:8, 9, 13; Gen. 4:21, 22; 1 Cor. 9:19-23; Phil. 2:5-7; 2 Cor. 4:5)

11. Education and Leadership

We confess that we have sometimes pursued church growth at the expense of church depth, and divorced evangelism from Christian nurture. We also acknowledge that some of our missions have been too slow to equip and encourage national leaders to assume their rightful responsibilities. Yet we are committed to indigenous principles, and long that every church will have national leaders who manifest a Christian style of leadership in terms not of domination but of service. We recognize that there is a great need to improve theological education, especially for church leaders. In every nation and culture there should be an effective training program for pastors and laity in doctrine, discipleship, evangelism, nurture and service. Such training programs should not rely on any stereotyped methodology but should be developed by creative local initiatives according to biblical standards.

(Col. 1:27, 28; Acts 14:23; Tit. 1:5, 9; Mark 10:42-45; Eph. 4:11, 12)

12. Spiritual Conflict

We believe that we are engaged in constant spiritual warfare with the principalities and powers of evil, which are seeking to overthrow the Church and frustrate its task of world evangelization. We know our need to equip ourselves with God's Armour and to fight this battle with the spiritual weapons of truth and prayer. For we detect the activity of our enemy, not only in false ideologies outside the Church, but also inside it in false gospels which twist Scripture and put people in the place of God. We need both watchfulness and discernment to safeguard the biblical Gospel. We acknowledge that we ourselves are not immune to worldliness of thoughts and action, that is, to surrender to secularism. For example, although careful studies of church growth, both numerical and spiritual, are right and valuable, we have sometimes neglected them. At other times, desirous to ensure a response to the Gospel, we have compromised our message, manipulated our hearers through pressure techniques, and become unduly preoccupied with statistics or even dishonest in our use of them. All this is worldly. The Church must be in the world; the world must not be in the Church.

(Eph. 6:12; 2 Cor. 4:3, 4; Eph. 6:11, 13-18; 2 Cor. 10:3-5; 1 John 2:18-26; 4:1-3; Gal. 1:6-9; 2 Cor. 2:17; 4:2; John 17:15)

13. Freedom and Persecution

It is the God-appointed duty of every government to secure conditions of peace, justice and liberty in which the Church may obey God, serve the Lord Jesus Christ, and preach the Gospel without interference. We therefore pray for the leaders of nations and call upon them to guarantee freedom of thought and conscience, and freedom to practice and propagate religion in accordance with the will of God and as set forth in The Universal Declaration of Human Rights. We also express our deep concern for all who have been unjustly imprisoned, and especially for those who are suffering for their testimony to the Lord Jesus. We promise to pray and work for their freedom. At the same time we refuse to be intimidated by their fate. God helping us, we too will seek to stand against injustice and to remain faithful to the Gospel, whatever the cost. We do not forget the warnings of Jesus that persecution is inevitable.

(1 Tim. 1:1-4, Acts 4:19; 5:29; Col. 3:24; Heb. 13:1-3; Luke 4:18; Gal. 5:11; 6:12; Matt. 5:10-12; John 15:18-21)

14. The Power of the Holy Spirit

We believe in the power of the Holy Spirit. The Father sent his Spirit to bear witness to his Son; without his witness ours is futile. Conviction of sin, faith in Christ, new birth and Christian growth are all his work. Further, the Holy Spirit is a missionary spirit; thus evangelism should arise spontaneously from a Spirit-filled church. A church that is not a missionary church is contradicting itself and quenching the Spirit. Worldwide evangelization will become a realistic possibility only when the Spirit renews the Church in truth and wisdom, faith, holiness, love and power. We therefore call upon all Christians to pray for such a visitation of the sovereign Spirit of God that all his fruit may appear in all his people and that all his gifts may enrich the body of Christ. Only then will the whole world become a fit instrument in his hands, that the whole earth may hear his voice.

(1 Cor. 2:4; John 15:26;27; 16:8-11; 1 Cor. 12:3; John 3:6-8; 2 Cor. 3:18; John 7:37-39; 1 Thess. 5:19; Acts 1:8; Psa. 85:4-7; 67:1-3; Gal. 5:22,23; 1 Cor. 12:4-31; Rom. 12:3-8)

15. The Return of Christ

We believe that Jesus Christ will return personally and visibly, in power and glory, to consummate his salvation and his judgment. This promise of his coming is a further spur to our evangelism, for we remember his words that the Gospel must first be preached to all nations. We believe that the interim period between Christ's ascension and return is to be filled with the mission of the people of God, who have no liberty to stop before the end. We also remember his warning that false christs and false prophets will arise as precursors of the final Antichrist. We therefore reject as a proud, self-confident dream the notion that people can ever build a utopia on earth. Our Christian confidence is that God will perfect his Kingdom, and we look forward with eager anticipation to that day, and to the new heaven and earth in which righteousness will dwell and God will reign forever. Meanwhile, we rededicate ourselves to the service of Christ and of people in joyful submission to his authority over the whole of our lives.

(Mark 14:62; Heb. 9:28; Mark 13:10; Acts 1:8-11; Matt. 28:20; Mark 13:21-23; John 2:18; 4:1-3; Luke 12:32; Rev. 21:1-5; 2 Pet. 3:13; Matt. 28:18)

Conclusion

Therefore, in the light of this our faith and our resolve, we enter into a solemn covenant with God and with each other, to pray, to plan and to work together for the evangelization of the whole world. We call upon others to join us. May God help us by his grace and for his glory to be faithful to this our covenant! Amen, Alleluia!

Appendix 3. BGU's Vision

1. Emerging and Experienced Transformational Leaders

To strengthen current and future Christian and other transformational leaders who are rooted in the timeless truths of Scripture, understand context and culture, and proactively lead in the midst of today's global realities.

2. Whole Gospel, Whole Church, Whole World

To connect the work of international Christian and other transformational leaders through commonly-held, foundational perspectives of Christian thought and practice, including God's heart for the vulnerable, the call to work for justice, the proclamation of the Gospel, the value of cities, and the necessity to personally live in deepening relational community.

3. Kingdom Sharing

To distribute resources of finances, leadership, authority, and insight throughout the church and other transformational communities worldwide. Many cultures that are financially rich are relationship-poor. Regardless of economic trade policies, God has created a worldwide Kingdom economy that forces interdependence within the church world-wide and among the nations. The vision of BGU is to create the relationships, common values, and communication needed to stimulate the flow of resources to fuel a new era of sharing partnerships.

4. Perspective and Values Education

BGU provides a worldwide model of graduate education that invites students to evaluate and reinvent how they accomplish their work. This model includes education that results in changed values and paradigms, not just added knowledge. This is accomplished through "come and see" experiences that move students outside of comfort zones into new global realities. BGU is committed to not uprooting students from their current ministry/work locations. BGU is facilitated by global faculty, global communication tools, and student cohorts diverse in gender, experiences and cultures.

5. Accessibility to Life-Long Learning

BGU creates pathways for learning that offer front-line practitioners the hope of life-long, credentialed, high-quality education. Students will be given tools to help them learn life-long habits of reflection and theological inquiry in the midst of their leadership action. BGU will be seen not as a three- to four-year relationship, but a life-long equipping partner, advancing them through degrees and serving them with on-going teaching, networking and platforming opportunities.

6. Virtual Services

BGU utilizes technology, travel and network relationships to provide a high-level of service to students in various world locations. BGU is not just 'high-tech,' but also 'high-touch,' emphasizing relationships and the use of technology to create community, not just dispense information more efficiently.

Appendix 4. Institutional Objectives

1. Spiritual Formation

How will this university help a student have increased trust in God, while dynamically developing and stewarding its partnerships and networks?

- Students identify the work of God at various stages of their development. They gain insight into how God has intervened and shaped their lives for their unique call, and practice implementing this call in the world as transformational change agents in collaboration with others.
- Students grow in their reliance on the guidance of God as they implement His call on their lives.
- Students develop a growth path that will deepen their understanding of and relationship with God, self, their fellowmen and the environment.
- Students cultivate a Christ-centered identity as they reflect on and develop spiritual formation disciplines, while drawing from the models of current and past Christian leaders.
- Students experience and contribute to a growing awareness of Shalom, personally, in their communities, and other spheres of influence and for the environment.
- Students discover creative, contextual ways to communicate their faith to others.

2. Perspective

What shifts in worldview, mindset, new ways of seeing themselves and God, will result in the BGU 8 perspectives to be integrated in students' lives and outreach/influence?

Students model a leadership style that reflects BGU's 8 Leadership Perspectives

- Calling-based Leadership
- Incarnational leadership
- Reflective Leadership
- Servant Leadership
- Contextual Leadership
- Global Leadership
- Shalom Leadership
- Prophetic Leadership

3. Knowledge

What knowledge is needed to accomplish Spiritual Formation and Perspective Transformation?

- Students develop an increased understanding of issues of stewardship of resources, including partnerships and networks, for and with vulnerable people and places;

- The knowledge base that students have access to is responsive to students' needs;
- Students demonstrate awareness of innovative knowledge delivery mechanisms which may integrate across the various disciplines needed for urban transformation;
- Students continuously acquire knowledge that is both prophetically disruptive and ethically sound, periodically updated to reflect changing world realities.

4. Skills

What hands-on skills will be taught, demonstrated and evaluated throughout BGU's academic and non-academic services to students?

- Students learn how to develop and disseminate experiential approaches focusing on locally-scaled, global best practices with
- appropriate quality and innovation;
- Students demonstrate transformational leadership-related skills which can be duplicated, and which create or contribute to redemptive changes in student's current life and work;
- Students are exposed to a learning environment that also teaches best networking practices which range from the non-formal to post-graduate studies and beyond.

5. Application

How will BGU students apply their learning in their life and work during their studies and after they graduate, while expanding their own partnerships and networks and becoming more and more Christ-like?

- Students are/become influential Christ-like transformational leaders in their own expanding networks.
- Students demonstrate an increased missional perspective.
- Students serve as transformational leaders within city contexts.
- Students integrate diversity culturally, ethnically, geographically, denominationally, and by gender in their thought and work.

Appendix 5. Overall Objectives

The overall objectives for all of BGU's programs are to:

1. Deliver Practical Ministry Instruction

The goal of BGU is to stretch, challenge, encourage and enhance the skills of leaders who are committed to life-long transformation. Graduates from the university often indicate their appreciation for the practical nature of the courses, which focus on the daily challenges confronted by those in various sectors of Christian ministry, urban studies, and business.

2. Deliver Biblically-Based Curriculum

The educational philosophy of BGU emphasizes strengthening individuals and networks for life-long transformational work, as well as providing a sound biblical framework to guide the goals and methods for lasting transformation of individuals, communities, and societies. All courses are taught from a biblical perspective and are centered on the person and work of Jesus. The Bible is recognized as the supreme authority for all policy and practice. Therefore, the various forms of transformational work taught at the university are defined and evaluated according to biblical descriptions. It is also recognized that all transformational work occurs within a specific cultural environment. Therefore, the content of the curriculum is continually evaluated and adjusted to ensure that biblically defined transformation is applied in forms which are culturally relevant.

3. Provide a Faculty Composed of Successful Practitioners

The instruction provided in each course is based on principles of “modeling” and “mentoring.” As in other professional fields, such as law or medicine, pastors and transformational leaders need practicing “mentors” who can teach not only from a textbook, but also from a life of experience. Our instructors have proven track records in leading strong transformational organizations and, therefore, can teach from practical experience, rather than just theory.

4. Deliver through an Adult Learning System

We realize the necessary sacrifices and commitments required by adult leaders who choose to continue their education. The university's course delivery system is designed to take into consideration schedules of adults who must balance family commitments, career priorities, and the demands of continuing education. We realize the need to balance often-competing factors of limited time versus the need for some face-to-face contact with instructors and fellow students. Some courses are hybrid in format and incorporate a combination of onsite and online (virtual face-to-face) learning, to achieve a balance of individual study and classroom instruction led by a faculty member.

5. Instill in Students a Recognition of the Diversity of the Church

The student body of BGU represents a diverse group of leaders from a wide variety of streams of Christianity, as well as business students who may respect but not personally embrace Christian beliefs. Student work settings vary from pastoral roles in local congregations, to non-profit, government or business leadership roles. Lively debate is encouraged in a classroom environment of mutual respect. Within BGU, the Bible will be used to ultimately evaluate all truth, but there exists a need for openness to the ideas and interpretations represented in many cultures and work roles if God’s truth is to be discovered.

6. Provide Leadership Training to Build the Local Church

Because BGU was founded within a local Christian church, these roots still form many of the values upheld, especially in BGU’s theology school. The university’s educational philosophy focuses on the nature of the Church and the formation of a biblical self-identity for transformational leaders. There is no current or historical global organization as widespread and as local as the local Christian church. BGU believes these local entities are united by God as one church yet have diverse local expressions guided by local culture and needs. These local entities have a responsibility not just to care for their members, but also to share the transformational message and example of Jesus within all sectors of society.

7. Instill in Students the Reality of Globalization

Whether a leader is living and working in rural, suburban or urban contexts, transformational leaders must understand the impact of globalization, which is creating a rapidly growing urbanized world. As our planet undergoes phenomenal change, moving from a rural world to an urban world, leaders everywhere must understand how this impacts their particular context. Transformational leaders must deal with local global issues as they become spiritual healers and socially responsible leaders for the community they seek to serve. Leaders who believe in incarnational mission and transformational lifestyles must be able to discern the deepest social and spiritual issues within their own community, as well as the cultures of the world.

Personal Perspectives	Calling-Based Leadership – The leader seeks to understand God-given gifts, experiences and opportunities in understanding their unique role as a called instrument of Christ’s transforming work in and above world cultures.
	Incarnational Leadership – The leader pursues shared experiences, shared plights, shared hopes, in addition to shared knowledge and tasks.
	Reflective Leadership – The leader lives in reality, reflects on its meaning, and catalyzes others with the courage, symbols, and example to make meaning in their own lives.
Work Perspectives	Shalom* Leadership – The leader pursues reconciling relationships between people, people and God, people and their environment, and people and themselves. The leader works toward the well-being, abundance and wholeness of the community, as well as individuals.
	Prophetic* Leadership – The leader speaks truth with love, to and through power. With sacrifice and humility, the leader pursues change in the broken systems and practices in the political, economic, social and religious life of the city and world. The leader must give voice to those that have no voice (Prov. 31:8).
	Servant Leadership – The leader’s behavior and priority is on servanthood first. In the style of Jesus, the leader leads by serving and serves by leading.
World Persp	Contextual Leadership – The leader recognizes the previous work of God in other cultures and seeks to experience and build its unique gospel expression.

Global Leadership – The leader understands the complexity of today’s global, pluralistic, urban, economic, and political landscape and sees the church from the perspective of a world Church rather than merely a nationalized, denominational, or localized church.

* These terms have rich historic meanings that we will attempt to reclaim beyond their media-politicized current characterizations.

In addition to these perspectives, BGU believes that transformational leadership causes positive and lasting changes in the person, their team, and their city. Transformation changes the whole person, the whole city, and the whole church through demonstrating the whole gospel. The lens through which BGU looks at Transformational Leadership is the Global City. The goal is to impact the city’s movement (trans) to a new reality (form), one that reflects the ever increasing shalom of God. The leader is a steward of power—acquiring it, giving it away, using it for God’s purposes, growing it in relationship vs. transaction, not hoarding or using it for selfish ends. Each of the following qualities/styles of leadership uniquely contributes to the transformation of the city. These eight perspectives shape the learning outcomes for every BGU course.

Appendix 6.

Educational Values & Philosophy of Engagement

The educational values and philosophy of BGU form the guidelines of how BGU will develop classes, form networks, select students, faculty, and staff, and pursue its unique approach to graduate education. BGU is a community formed around spiritual reflection, authentic relationships, and sacrificial mission. It is an accredited higher educational institution committed to developing incarnational servant leaders who are intentional instruments of God in their communities and workplaces. BGU collaborates with an emerging global network of organizations, churches, and schools to develop transformational leaders to seek peace in their cities worldwide.

1. We Value the Whole Church

In response to Christ's command to seek the unity of the body, we celebrate and commit to collaborate with God's Church. Therefore, we will risk organizational, personal and worldview changes that are necessary to see successful partnership and transformation across geographic, ethnic, cultural, denominational, and organizational lines. We also believe that Christ's vision for the cities is bigger than any single denomination and will only be achieved through the wholeness of the Church.

2. We Value Cities

For the first time in human history the majority of the world's people live in cities, which are God's gift of refuge, hope and common grace for countless millions. In the Bible there are more than 1000 passages about cities, giving us clues as to how we should live as persons and behave as institutions. Biblically, we see it is essential to value both places and persons. Therefore, we seek both the spiritual transformation of persons and the social transformation of places, until our Lord comes or calls for us.

3. We Value the Vulnerable

The Gospel is for all people, which includes the rich, the successful and the powerful in our cities. However, in the Bible we especially notice God's awesome and unrelenting concern for the poor, widows, migrants, unemployed (and underemployed), sick persons, prisoners, aliens, victims, and refugees. BGU commits itself to working with the leadership of the city but always in partnership with the vulnerable, who are "equally sinful but most often sinned against."

4. We Value Justice

Ministry in Christ's Spirit and example celebrates the indwelling presence of God, who through His Holy Spirit delivers people from their personal bondage to sin and guilt, and also stimulates processes that lead to transformation of and liberation from oppressive and unjust laws and public structures. We call the powerful whom the Lord has raised up in every city to partnerships with the vulnerable so that the Gospel may be understood and the power of the Gospel may be demonstrated in the Church and in the world.

5. We Value Community

We believe God's Spirit calls and empowers us to community, and that this calling brings both relational and institutional tension. As a result of this tension, we believe that ongoing reconciliation is critically important. We therefore purpose to be a community of people committed to vulnerability and common vision that deals with legitimate conflict in a creative and redemptive manner. For the sake of the Gospel, we value diversity and are committed to collaborating with those with whom we may not share total theological agreement.

6. We Value Doing Theology

We believe that theological reflection is powerful, relevant and transformational when done in response to injustice and human suffering. This requires bold vision, the ability to adapt to rapid global change and urgent collaborative action from individuals, churches, and mission agencies to bring the whole Gospel to these cities. BGU is committed to providing quality theological education that equips present and future urban leaders for transformational ministry/work around the world.

7. We Value the Local Church

We believe in churches and local ministries that are both signs and agents of God's Kingdom. BGU's goal is to see God glorified in a transformed city, where both storefront and cathedral, small outreach and large non-profit ministries, embody God's Kingdom purposes. BGU is not only committed to those leaders who develop new ministries but also to those who believe in and seek the renewal of historic churches and structures, some centuries old.

8. We Value Leadership

Global, urban realities require competent, compassionate leadership in society. Such leaders have been entrusted with much and need continual nourishment, appreciation, encouragement and accountability to grow and sustain their work. Jesus is the message, the model and the method. Leaders following Him must be servant leaders, giving away control by empowering and resourcing others doing Kingdom work to achieve their mission.

9. We Value Missional Education

Drawing from the strength of effective indigenous leaders, we believe that learning is best accomplished when theology is studied and applied in the context of mission. BGU is committed to providing quality education accessible to the historically under-represented leaders. The context of education is new urban realities.

10. We Value Partnerships

We commit to mutually transformational partnerships that reflect God as Father, Son and Holy Spirit. The primary life of God from eternity is community, reminding us that we are never more like God than when we are in community and relationships. The primary work of God is in partnership where each member of the Trinity has a primary calling as creator, redeemer and sustainer of the universe, but also each has a mutual investment in the work of the whole. The primary structure of God informs our concept of the family existing in unity, equality and mutual submission within a diversity of roles.

11. We Value Holistic Mission

We understand that the Trinity is on mission reconciling us to God, to ourselves, to each other and to our world. The Trinity reconciles individuals, relationships, organizations and cultures long before we arrive so that every person and place is holy ground. Thus, God's mission in the world delivers us from seeing only one kind of immediate evangelism as the sum of what the Trinity's mission is about. Mission flowing from the agendas of each person of the Trinity delivers us from the tyranny of pragmatics and particularistic views of our own role in mission.

12. We Value Work

We understand our purpose, made in the image of God, is to steward God's creation through our work in community with each other and in submission to God. All work, including work in business, government, churches, non-profit organizations and the family, is valued equally by God as the work reflects His gifts and purpose. In the image of God, we are created to make decisions on behalf of God, held accountable in both process and results by our community and by God.

13. We Value Business Education

We define business as the organization of God-given gifts in a God-honoring community to produce both process and results that steward God's creation. We recognize that local and global business has both a growing influence in our world and a growing crisis of purpose and ethics. BGU is committed to providing quality business education that provides essential and practical business skills from the perspective of its sacred purpose.

14. We Value Diversity

We believe that God created all peoples and that He has intentionally designed each of them to be unique in their differences. Diversity derives from the life-giving characteristics that God designed and therefore is according to His will. We recognize that these differences have historically caused division and polarization for the Church. It is BGU's goal to embrace those differences and build a culture that cherishes and respects those differences as evidence of the manifold grace of God (1 Peter 4:10). BGU is committed to the inclusion of members from diverse backgrounds at all levels of the organization and views this inclusion as being directly in line with God's will and purpose to display His glory in our humanity.

15. We Value Creation Care

We value individual responsibility, community action, organizational practices and advocacy that takes responsibility for protecting and sustaining the health of our environment. God created the earth and commissioned humans to steward it. Our role as citizens of God's kingdom is to authentically live out that original commission in this age. We are awed by creation and all its beauty and wonder. As we use our God-given gifts to utilize God's resources for the good of society, we recognize that those resources must be protected and replenished. Creation care is indeed 'a gospel issue within the lordship of Christ. We are faced with a crisis that is pressing, urgent, and that must be resolved in our generation.

Appendix 7. BGU Core Values

Preamble - Passion

Our sovereign Lord, Jesus the Christ, has called us individually and collectively – above all else – to love our God and to love our neighbors as ourselves. To that end, we, the boards, faculty and staff of BGU, commit to pursue our work together with the passion that comes from recognizing we are called to our work and relationships at BGU by God for purposes beyond our own comfort, agendas, or understanding. We place our whole heart and feeling into our work with a holy discontent with things as they are. We commit to a long obedience in the same direction of pursuing new solutions and better ways. We commit to being the best stewards of this work that God has given to us recognizing that God will determine the outcome. While we have opinions about many things, we are going to the stake on the following four values that will determine the way we work together and with students, faculty, donors, partners, the public and every other stakeholder of BGU.

Celebrate

Recognizing that every good and perfect gift is from above, we are thankful. We take time to recognize and mark God’s good gifts that come to us personally and in our work together. Because these gifts come to us in both success and failure, we reflect on our work and celebrate ALL that we are learning. We create a workplace that invites “dancing and singing” to the Lord – a place where releasing holy joy is welcome because we know the redemptive power of thankfulness and joy.

Respect

People in all their diversity are gifts made in God’s image and therefore worthy of respect. We show respect by being accountable to one another, giving and receiving praise as well as constructive feedback, and dealing with conflict in a direct manner. We honor one another by listening and communicating in an open, patient and sensitive manner. We encourage and value each person’s input, ideas and perspectives. We show consideration through clear communications and punctuality. We acknowledge our differences and work together to complement our strengths and weaknesses.

Integrity

We seek to be an honest reflection of God who became visible in Jesus Christ. The fundamental spirituality of Jesus is submission to the will of God. We listen intently for God’s direction and commit without excuse to pursue that path. We pursue truth with grace, holiness with mercy, and justice with compassion. We strive to be authentic in our words, emotions and actions.

Community

Recognizing the triune God exists forever in community expressed in the church as body and family, we live into that calling. We commit to listen, pray, speak, work, study, suffer, struggle and do theology together, not solely in isolation. Our communion is local and global. It includes the saints of the past, “that great cloud of witnesses,” our partners, our teams, our students and those they serve. We are fully present, accepting one another, giving each other the gift of who we are without imposing personal biases on others.

Appendix 8. Health & Security

1. Fire Safety

a. Fire Alarms

In the event of a fire emergency, a fire alarm will sound for the building.

b. Evacuation Routes and Plans

BGU shall have an emergency evacuation plan. All emergency exits shall conform to NFPA standards.

c. Emergency Evacuation Plan

BGU's offices meet all Texas Fire Department safety standards with regular inspections as required by law. In the event of a fire, the alarm system will sound. Whenever the alarm system sounds, except during announced testing, all employees must leave the building until it is determined safe to re-enter. Exit via the nearest stairwell (north or south end of the hallway) unless smoke or heat make it unsafe to do so.

Do not use elevators. Should the fire involve the control panel of the elevator or the electrical system of the building, power in the building may be cut and a person could be trapped between floors. Also, the elevator shaft can become a flue, lending itself to the passage and accumulation of hot gases and smoke generated by the fire. Emergency coordinators will be responsible for verifying personnel have evacuated from their assigned areas.

2. Fire Emergency Procedures

a. If a fire is found:

- Activate the nearest fire alarm.
- Notify the fire department by dialing 911. Give location, the nature of the fire, and name.
- Notify emergency coordinator and other occupants.

b. Fight the fire ONLY if

- The fire department has been notified of the fire, AND
- The fire is small and confined to its area of origin, AND
- There is a way out and the fire can be fought with one's back to the exit, AND
- A proper extinguisher is in good working order, AND someone knows how to use it.
- If not sure of the ability or the fire extinguisher's capacity to contain the fire, leave the area.

c. If a fire alarm is sounded:

- Evacuate the area. Close windows and doors upon exit.
- Leave the building and move away from exits and out of the way of emergency operations.
- Assemble in the designated area.
- Report to the monitor so he or she can determine that all personnel have evacuated your area.

- Remain outside until a competent authority states that it is safe to re-enter.

d. Evacuation Routes

- Learn at least two escape routes, and emergency exits from area.
- Never use an elevator as part of an escape route.
- Learn to activate a fire alarm.
- Learn to recognize alarm sounds.
- Take an active part in fire evacuation drills.

All employees will be instructed on fire emergency procedures, including the location of exits and fire extinguishers.

3. Fire Exits & Drills

Supervisors should instruct each new employee of the location of the two exits nearest his working place. In case of fire, WALK to your assigned exit. Do not shout or say anything that might lead to panic among fellow employees. A building can be emptied quickly if everybody keeps calm.

Fire drills are held a minimum of once a year to insure the prompt and safe exit of employees from the building in case of an actual fire. Prompt obedience to supervisor's and fire captains' instructions is required during these drills.

4. Personal Safety

The following are some reminders that can help ensure personal safety as a staff member while at BGU.

- Always let the appropriate person know plans;
- Practice self-defense. Carry keys in hand when walking to and from car;
- Always lock the car, and do not leave valuables in full view. Check the back seat and floors when approaching one's car;
- Hang up on obscene telephone calls. Repeated calls should be reported to the Director of Operations.
- Report unusual situations to the Director of Operations. Let him/her determine if it is necessary to investigate;
- Immediately report what is known to the Director of Operations if a witness to a crime or a victim of a crime.

Appendix 9. Community Standards of Conduct

Statements of Community Standards

The following Statements of Community Standards are to be annually reaffirmed by all BGU directors, faculty, administrators, staff, and students. All references to BGU workers shall include all administrators, full-time staff, contractual staff, and directors. These are:

1. Statement on Academic Freedom

In the pursuit of truth before God, faculty members are free to express, in their writing, speaking, teaching and activities, their individual positions. Upon initial consideration for a faculty position at BGU, faculty members are required to state their agreement or concerns with the mission, vision, values, doctrine (Lausanne Covenant), and educational philosophy of BGU. While faculty are free to develop and express new academic positions, the unique task of the institution requires that the ultimate positions of faculty members not be at variance with the basic theology of the community as set forth in the Faculty Handbook and other official statements derived from it and approved by vote of the faculty and BGU's Board of Directors (hereinafter "the Board"). Faculty members serve under the authority of the BGU community and must recognize their positions within BGU are dependent upon their continued respect for these official statements and authorities of the university. BGU recognizes that as its faculty members pursue their respective disciplines, scholarship will sometimes create a healthy and dynamic tension that BGU must encourage.

Therefore:

- Faculty members are entitled to freedom in research and in the publication of the results within their fields of academic competence.
- Faculty members are entitled to freedom in their classrooms, addressing matters within the general subject area implied by the course title and description.
- Faculty members are free as individuals and as citizens to speak and write about matters, whether or not the matters are directly related to theology. While BGU will not limit individual expression in any respect, when expressing views that are at variance with the official views of BGU, faculty members should avoid the impression that they are speaking for BGU, and take the initiative to directly state they are speaking within their personal academic freedom and not representing BGU official positions.
- Students are required to respect the statements as found in BGU's Catalog and are free to take reasoned exception to the data or views offered in the BGU community. In their public expressions, students and student organizations should make clear that they speak only for themselves. Nevertheless, faculty members are responsible for safeguarding the academic freedom of their students to learn by encouraging free inquiry into controversial issues, presenting alternative viewpoints, refraining from undue influence which would interfere with the process of learning, taking dissenting student opinion seriously and offering a forum for discussion. BGU faculty may not oppress students who have opposing views to their own. In such cases, faculty should assign grades based upon the biblically grounded and reasoned expressions of the student's views.

2. Statement on Academic Integrity

BGU is committed to intellectual and moral development, therefore, upholding the standard of academic integrity with its reliance on honesty as the collective responsibility of faculty, students and staff. Conduct regarded as violating academic integrity includes: dishonesty in a course paper or contribution - copying from the paper of another, allowing one's own paper to be copied, or the submission of the same work product in more than one course without the express permission of the instructor(s), and plagiarism - passing off another's ideas or writings as one's own. Plagiarism is failure to acknowledge material that is copied from others or failure to acknowledge one's indebtedness to another for the gist of important thoughts in a formal statement, written or oral. Since the issue of plagiarism is one of integrity, students will be asked to state on every project submitted to BGU that the work is original work written by the student and that every effort has been made to properly cite all quoted material. The student is asked to insert on page 1 of their document: "I verify that the work contained in this project is my original work and that it has not been taken from another source, other than quoted materials that have been properly referenced."

The following is the policy with regard to how plagiarized work will be addressed:

1. If a professor identifies plagiarism in a student's work, the student will be allowed to explain the circumstances. The professor will consult with the Academic Dean and may allow the student to re-write the project to eliminate all incidents of plagiarism if this is the student's first offense.
2. If the student has plagiarized in other courses, the Academic Dean may impose a failing grade for the current course and the student may incur other penalties, up to expulsion from the school.
3. If a student's prior work is found to contain plagiarism, the grade for the course or work is subject to change.
4. If a degree has already been granted at the time the violation is discovered, the degree may be revoked.

In each occasion listed above, when possible, the student will be given coaching and the opportunity to address their acts of plagiarism and penalties will be determined by the Academic Dean taking into consideration the severity of the plagiarism and the degree of the student's repentance, diligence, and timely response.

3. Statement on Christian Conduct

Women and men of God are suited for Christian service by moral character, as well as by academic achievement and spiritual gifts. Among their qualifications should be compassion for individual persons, sensitivity to the needs of the communities of which they are a part, a commitment to justice, a burden that the whole of God's will be obeyed on earth, personal integrity, a desire for moral, spiritual and psychological growth and mutual accountability.

The above statement is consistent with BGU's mission and supports conduct that is founded within the context of a Christian worldview that affirms Christian Scriptures as the authority for personal and corporate behavior. "But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control" (Gal. 5:22-23a, NIV).

With the help of the Holy Spirit, BGU's staff, faculty, board members and students will seek to live lives that demonstrate the above attitudes and behaviors, thereby making them a blessing in their churches, communities, professions and families.

In like manner, the following Scripture delineates those behaviors that are injurious to the community and are therefore to be avoided. "The acts of the sinful nature are obvious: sexual immorality, impurity and debauchery, idolatry and witchcraft, hatred, discord, jealousy, fits of rage, selfish ambition, dissensions, factions and envy, drunkenness, orgies, and the like" (Gal. 5:19-21a, NIV).

BGU's Christian character requirements are centered in the timeless truths of the God-inspired biblical text. These biblical principles take priority when there is a direct conflict with the cultural norms of any of the many diverse cultures that make up the BGU community. BGU recognizes the fact that Christians may have varied biblical interpretations regarding some of the behavioral standards listed above and will take that fact into consideration when investigating allegations of violations of the standard on Christian conduct.

4. Title IX

Title IX and federal regulations prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex. BGU is governed by Title IX and is covered by certain provisions of Title IX. Sex discrimination violates an individual's fundamental rights and personal dignity. BGU considers sex discrimination to be a serious offense. Title IX refers to all forms of sex discrimination, including, but not limited to sexual harassment, sexual assault, and sexual violence by employees, students, or third parties meeting applicable title IX definitions.

The Executive Director of Finance and Operations serves as BGU's Title IX Coordinator and oversees implementation of BGU's compliance. Inquiries and reports regarding this policy may be made to Title IX Coordinator, 8515 Greenville Ave., Suite S206, Dallas, TX 75243 (214) 329-4447.

5. Statement on Non-Discrimination

BGU affirms its commitment to promote the goal of nondiscrimination on the basis of race, color, gender, national or ethnic origin in the administration of its educational policies, admissions policies, scholarship programs or any other school-administered program. As a university that teaches from a Christian perspective, it is expected that all students respect Christian faith and practice, as well as the Community Standards of Conduct.

6. Statement on Harassment

It is expected that staff, students and faculty will treat each other with respect for their dignity. Any form of harassment related to another's race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, or physical or mental ability or other protected characteristic is a violation of this policy and will be subject to disciplinary action. Harassment is a barrier to learning in the classroom and to productivity in the workplace. It includes but is not limited to ethnic jokes, racial slurs, derogatory name-calling or any other offensive conduct that severely impairs another's ability to perform the job. Faculty, administrators and supervisors have the responsibility for participation in the creation of a university environment free from all forms of harassment, an environment that bears joyful witness to the God-given worth of all persons.

According to the U.S. Supreme Court (Harris v. Forklift Systems, Inc., No. 92-1168, 1993):

When the workplace is permeated with “discriminatory intimidation, ridicule, and insult,” that is “sufficiently severe or pervasive to alter the conditions of the victim’s employment and create an abusive working environment,” Title VII is violated.

Definitions of Sexual Harassment

Sexual harassment is defined as systematic persecution by besetting with annoyances, threats or demands, unwelcome advances and other verbal or physical conduct, when such conduct has the purpose or effect of creating an intimidating, hostile or offensive academic and/or work environment; when such conduct interferes unreasonably with a person’s advancement; or when a person’s reaction to such conduct is used as the basis for academic/employment decisions affecting that person. This policy applies to students, faculty and staff.

Unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature constitute sexual harassment when:

- a. Submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a condition of instruction, employment or participation in other institutional activity;
- b. Submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as a basis for evaluation in making any academic or personnel decision affecting that individual;
- c. Such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual’s performance or participation in instructional, employment-related or other institutional activity.

In determining whether the alleged conduct constitutes harassment, consideration shall be given to the record as a whole and to the totality of the circumstances, including the context in which the alleged conduct occurred.

7. Statement on Sexual Standards

While Bakke Graduate University is a Christian ministry organization and celebrates human sexuality as a gift of God for enjoyment, worship and procreation. BGU holds that biblical sexual standards require abstinence outside of the marriage of one male to one female. Since BGU is preparing whole-person godly leaders, including their knowledge, character and skills, it is expected that BGU’s Board, faculty, staff, as well as students who profess Christian belief adhere to this character standard while engaged in BGU. It is expected that all students, even those who do not profess Christian faith respect this biblical perspective as congruent with BGU’s Christian mission and seek to apply biblical principles through their own faith perspective.

8. Statement on Respect for People & Property

As a community of Christians with a special commitment to treat one another in a loving manner, BGU expects the community to behave in a manner that demonstrates the highest standard of respect for people and property. The following represent some examples of behaviors that are not acceptable according to this Statement on Respect for People and Property. Where appropriate, violations may be reported to civil authorities for legal or other action.

- a. Dishonesty. Lying, misrepresentation or deception in representations an individual makes about self or others in any phase of university life, especially in formal statements.
- b. Injurious or Offensive Action. Physical assault and the spreading of malicious rumors are unacceptable. Persistent profane or obscene language that gives offense is subject to disciplinary action.
- c. Disruption or Disorderly Conduct. Acts by individuals or groups that substantially interfere with the rights of others or interfere with the normal activities of the university are unacceptable. Intentionally or recklessly interfering with normal university business or activities which annoy, disturb or otherwise prevent the orderly conduct of BGU events or activities.
- d. Stealing or Destruction of Property. Unauthorized possession, theft or damage to the property of another person or of BGU is unacceptable.
- e. Purposeful Violation of Institutional Policies. Purposeful violations include refusal to comply with contractual arrangements with BGU offices or services.
- f. Disrespectful Behavior. Failure to respect the rights and human dignity of others; creating an atmosphere of disrespect in meetings or in the classroom; or disrespecting those in authority.
- g. Bullying. Verbal, nonverbal, or written threats, abuse, hostility or harassment towards any community member, student, faculty or BGU official in the performance of their duties.

9. Statement on Substance Abuse

In accordance with the Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act Amendments of 1989, BGU is committed to maintaining a drug-free working environment, one conducive to the promotion of wellness and positive self-development of all members of its community. In keeping with this objective, BGU will seek to ensure that all of its workplaces are safe and free from the problems and risks associated with the unauthorized use and abuse of alcohol and the illegal use and abuse of drugs.

Therefore, the unlawful possession, use or distribution of illicit drugs by students and employees on BGU property or at other BGU activities is prohibited. Additionally, it is expected that BGU students and employees will exercise moderation and wisdom in the use of alcohol in all BGU functions.

Legal Sanctions

Pending the outcome of investigations, local, state, and federal laws establish severe penalties for the unlawful possession of illicit drugs and the distribution of alcohol to minors. These legal sanctions, upon conviction, may range from the payment of a small fine and probation to imprisonment and fines up to $1,000,000.

10. Statement on Fraud and Abuse

BGU is committed to maintaining an educational entity that is not involved in any form of fraud or abuse and practices or procedures that are designed to deceive students or falsify information to students. BGU proactively investigates and resolves all complaints and other reports or findings that raise suspicion of fraud and/or abuse. Such cases and findings are reported to external regulatory and law enforcement agencies as required by law and contract. Following receipt of the complaint/fraud and abuse referral, the process for dealing with complaints is explained below in Section D.

11. Statement on Fraternalization

BGU desires to maintain a workplace environment that is professional, appropriate, and based on mutual trust and respect. This policy is intended primarily to establish rules for the conduct of personal relationships between: i) an employee or contracted worker/faculty and a student, and ii) a supervisor and a subordinate. For purposes of this policy, a “personal relationship” shall mean a relationship between individuals who have a continuing relationship of a romantic or intimate nature. Unless otherwise consented to by BGU, any personal relationship between an employee or contracted worker or faculty member and a student is prohibited. Unless otherwise consented to by BGU, any personal relationship between a supervisor and subordinate is prohibited.

Violations of Community Standards of Conduct

In the application of the above statements of Community Standards of Conduct, the university encourages individuals to follow, where feasible, the steps of conflict resolution in Matthew 18:15-22. BGU staff, faculty, and students will support the honest pursuit of truth when violations of the Community Standards of Conduct are in question. BGU is committed to encouraging and recommending, when appropriate, education and counseling for those in its community struggling with difficult life and relationship situations. In the event of an alleged violation of these Community Standards of Conduct, the following will apply:

The Director of Student Services will interview involved parties to establish a course of action in consultation with the Personnel Director. If the Director of Student Services or one of the involved parties requests a formal investigation, the Director of Student Services or the Academic Dean will constitute a two- to three-person committee, including male and female representation, none of whom are implicated in the allegation(s). The committee shall investigate the allegation(s) and make a written report to the Director of Student Services or the Academic Dean, as appropriate. All employees and/or students are expected to cooperate with the investigation. Failure to do so may lead to discipline, including dismissal. Providing false information in the course of an investigation is grounds for discipline, including dismissal. The findings of such an official investigation shall inform the appropriate administrator as to the appropriate disciplinary action that should be taken, if any. The findings of such an official inquiry shall be confidential.

Disciplinary Sanctions

For verified violations of the Community Standards of Conduct, members of the community are subject to several kinds of penalties. The applicability and exact nature of each penalty varies for faculty, students, professional staff, employees and guests. In general, however, the penalties, depending upon the seriousness of the violation, include the following in ascending order of severity:

- a. Warning: A formal admonition that does not become part of an individual's permanent record but may be taken into account in judging the seriousness of any violation.
- b. Disciplinary Probation: A more serious admonition assigned for a definite amount of time. It implies that any future violation during that time, of whatever kind, may be grounds for suspension or, in especially serious cases, for dismissal from BGU.
- c. Suspension for a Definite Period: Removal from membership in, employment by, or registration as a student of BGU for a specified period of time.
- d. Indefinite Suspension: Removal from membership in, employment by, or registration as a student of BGU for at least the period of time specified by the suspension, with the suspension to continue until certain conditions stipulated by the appropriate body applying this sanction have been fulfilled. These conditions may include, but are not limited to, restitution of damages or formal apology.
- e. Dismissal: Permanent removal from membership in or employment by BGU without hope of re-admission to the community.

The recommendation and/or the requirement of completing an appropriate rehabilitation program may accompany any of the five disciplinary actions listed above. Incidents on the BGU campus or incidents involving members of the BGU community may have to be reported to civil authorities for legal action.

Offenders will:

1. Have the right to be informed of their options in the judicial process.
2. Have the right to have their situation reviewed and documented.
3. Have the right to appeal in writing in accordance with stated policy and procedure.
4. Have the right to have their information treated confidentially by BGU officials during the judicial process, as required by the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act.
5. Have the right to be notified in writing of BGU's preliminary review of the situation.
6. Have the right to appeal the preliminary review meeting results to the President and/or legal counsel if they believe that the disciplinary procedures were not conducted in accordance with BGU's standards of conduct.

Federal, state and local authorities may be contacted and situations will be documented, as necessary.

Appendix 10. Complaint Procedure

Every effort is made to keep communication open between the student and BGU personnel to avoid serious problems. In the event of a grievance or problem that has not been handled to the student's satisfaction, the following procedure should be followed:

All grievances and appeals must be submitted in writing within ten (10) calendar days of the incident grieved or appealed. All grievances and appeals not filed within the ten (10) day period shall be considered waived. Appropriate steps will be taken to ensure confidential input from both the aggrieved student and any student witnesses to the actions giving rise to the complaint. Grievances should be submitted to:

Director of Student Services
8515 Greenville Ave., Suite S206
Dallas, TX 75243-7039
(214) 329-4447
complaint@bgu.edu

Process for handling a student complaint:

1. The first step is to complete the online student complaint form and uploading the required supporting documentation in Portable Document Format (PDF) (to download the form go to: <https://bgu.edu/students/student-resources/student-documents-to-download>). To access the online student complaint form, use the "Contact Us" link to submit an email. After submitting your email, wait a few moments for the online student complaint form to be automatically presented for your use.
2. Once a student has submitted a grievance to the Director of Student Services, an investigation into the allegations will be conducted. The complaint and all documentation will be maintained in the student's confidential file, which is located at BGU's home office in Dallas, Texas, in a secure, fireproof file cabinet or in a secure online file.
3. Grievances and appeals related to academic matters (grades, course procedures, tests and assignments), admission requirements, graduation-related matters, or grievances and appeals related to the conduct of fellow students or faculty members will first be addressed with the original instructor involved (if applicable). If the student is not satisfied with the results of this appeal, the appeal will be directed to both the Program Director and Academic Dean. If an agreement is not reached, the appeal will be directed to the Academic Cabinet.
4. If the grievance concerns the violation of a community standard of conduct, the Director of Student Services will interview the student to determine the seriousness and implications of the grievance. If the issue is a violation that has legal, financial, or moral implications, the appropriate university officer will be brought into consultation with the student to determine an appropriate pathway for resolution.
5. All grievances and appeals that are not resolved to the student's or BGU's satisfaction shall be subject to final and binding arbitration, both sides bearing their own expenses and attorney's fees, if any, or the student may contact BGU's accreditation agency to seek a resolution:

The Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board (THECB) adopted rules codified under Title 19 of the Texas Administrative Code, Sections 1.110 – 1.120, on October 25, 2012. The rules create a student complaint procedure to comply with the U.S. Department of Education's "Program Integrity" regulations, which require each state to have a student complaint procedure in order for public and private higher education institutions to be eligible for federal Title IV funds. In December 2011, the Office of Attorney General of Texas issued an opinion stating that THECB has authority under Texas Education Code Section 61.031 to promulgate procedures for handling student complaints concerning higher education institutions.

After exhausting the institution's grievance/complaint process, current, former, and prospective students may initiate a complaint with THECB by submitting the required forms along with evidence of their completion of their institution's complaint procedures. Complaints may be submitted using one of the following three options:

Texas Higher Education Board Process

If the complaint is not resolved to the satisfaction of all parties, the complaint form should be submitted to the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board as follows:

- Send the required Student Complaint and Release Forms and supporting documentation as PDF attachments by email to StudentComplaints@highered.texas.gov
- or
- Mailing printed forms and documentation to:

Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board
Office of General Counsel
P.O. Box 12788
Austin, Texas 78711-2788

Facsimile transmissions of student complaint forms are not accepted.

All submitted student complaint forms must include a signed Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) Consent and Release form and THECB Consent and Agreement Form. Submitted complaints regarding students with disabilities shall also include a signed Authorization to Disclose Medical Record Information form.

The Agency does not handle, investigate, or attempt to resolve complaints concerning actions that occurred more than two years prior to filing a student complaint form with the Agency, unless the cause of the delay in filing the student complaint form with the Agency was the complainant's exhaustion of the institution's grievance procedures.

Former students shall file a student complaint form with the Agency no later than one year after the student's last date of attendance at the institution, or within six months of discovering the grounds for complaint, unless the cause of the delay in filing the student complaint form with the Agency was the complainant's exhaustion of the institution's grievance procedures.

The first step in addressing a complaint is to follow BGU's institutional complaint procedures. If BGU is unable to resolve the matter after exhausting the complaint and appeal processes, a complaint may be filed with this Agency. Once the Agency receives a student complaint form, the Agency must notify the National Council for State Authorization Reciprocity Agreements (NC_SARA). <https://nc-sara.org/student-complaints> The Agency may refer the complaint to other agencies or entities as follows:

THECB may refer complaints alleging that an institution has violated state consumer protection laws to the Consumer Protection Division of the Office of the Attorney General of Texas for investigation and resolution, and may refer complaints pertaining to a component institution in a university system to the appropriate university system for investigation and resolution. E.g., complaints pertaining to an institution in the University of Texas System, Texas A&M University System, University of Houston System, University of North Texas System, Texas Tech University System, or Texas State University System can be referred to the appropriate university system for investigation and resolution.

Further, if THECB determines that a complaint is appropriate for investigation and resolution, by the institution's accrediting agency or an educational association such as ICUT (Independent Colleges & Universities of Texas, Inc.), the Agency may refer the complaint to the accrediting agency or educational association. THECB has the right to adopt any decision made by the accrediting agency or educational association, and may terminate the referral of the complaint to those entities at any time and proceed to investigate and adjudicate the complaint.

If a student complaint concerns compliance with the statutes and regulations that THECB administers and the complaint has not been referred to another entity, THECB will initiate an investigation. Prior to initiating an investigation, however, the student must exhaust all grievance/complaint and appeal procedures that the institution has established to address student complaints and provide documentation to THECB of such exhaustion.

As part of its investigation, THECB will request a response from the institution, and may also contact other persons or entities named in the student's complaint or in the institution's response, in order to ascertain all relevant facts. During its investigation, THECB will, in appropriate cases, attempt to facilitate an informal resolution to the complaint that is mutually satisfactory to the student and institution. In cases in which an informal resolution between the student and the institution is not feasible, THECB will evaluate the results of the investigation of the student complaint and recommend a course of action to the Commissioner. After receiving staff's recommendation, the Commissioner will consider the recommendation regarding the complaint and render a written determination either dismissing the complaint or requiring the institution to take specific actions to remedy the complaint. The Commissioner may also request the Board to review and decide issues that regard institutional integrity.

Appendix 11. Orientation Packet

Bakke Graduate University strengthens leaders who steward resources with and for vulnerable people and places, by means of contextual, Christian-based education innovatively delivered throughout the urban world.

ORIENTATION PACKET

WELCOME

We look forward to serving you throughout your educational experience. We are here to provide a superior academic experience within a strong faith-integrated environment. Thank you for choosing Bakke Graduate University. May God richly bless you throughout your journey with us.

To Be Completed by All Students of Bakke Graduate University

SECTION A. INSTRUCTIONS

This orientation packet has been designed to acquaint all new students with Bakke Graduate University (BGU) staff, program directors, and the basics of BGU. We want to make sure that you are equipped for the road ahead. Therefore, we are asking that you watch every video (some are marked “optional”), after which there will be a few brief questions (a quiz) that can only be answered if the video has been watched. We have found that an equipped student is a successful student and we want everyone to succeed!

Some countries do not allow access to particular sites, etc., so if you are unable to open the quiz or any of the videos, please let us know so that we can determine a way for you to be able to obtain the materials.

BGU also provides numerous resources on its website. Click on: <https://www.bgu.edu/students/student-resources/> (then hover your cursor over the word “Students” to see a dropdown box of the various resources accessible on BGU’s website).

Appendix 12. Admission Standards

BGU's programs are offered in low residency, multi-modal format. BGU offers no correspondence courses and all courses include active and consistent faculty interaction. All courses include an online campus component, which includes nine-weeks of asynchronous and synchronous interaction between students, faculty, guest lecturers and online mentors. Online instruction includes video lectures, live video conferencing sessions, faculty guided small group peer-learning sessions, faculty-led individual mentoring as well as reading and writing assignments. In addition to these activities conducted through BGU's online campus, many courses also include a residential component, which may include:

1. Urban immersions located in global cities hosted by BGU faculty who are subject-matter experts providing access to best practice examples of the areas of specialization sought by BGU students
2. Individual mentoring is provided through faculty mentors
3. Personal Learning Community (PLC) sessions led by BGU faculty through conference calls. Each student is required to recruit and identify three to six individuals to act as their PLC as part of their admissions process and the PLC meets with the student four times each year. Under the direction of the student's degree program director, these PLCs help BGU in student retention, advisement and outcome assessment.
4. Expert Mentoring Group (EMG) meetings with students, especially in the dissertation phase of doctoral programs and cross-course projects of masters programs. These groups are composed of subject matter experts who are recruited to meet with the student on a consistent basis to assist faculty in guiding a student through their dissertation or capstone project.

Master's Degrees: All students applying for a master's degree must have a bachelor's degree or bachelor equivalent with a grade point average of not less than 2.50. Academic transcripts from non-US academic institutions may be evaluated by an outside firm. Any fees associated with that evaluation must be paid by the student before he/she is admitted to any BGU degree program. Students without a bachelor's degree may request BGU to evaluate their bachelor-level education, informal education and work experience to determine their eligibility for a bachelor equivalent. This evaluation will be conducted consistent with standard guidelines developed by the Council for Adult and Experiential Learning (CAEL) <http://www.cael.org>. Any fees associated with this evaluation must be paid by the student before he/she is admitted to any BGU degree program.

Doctoral Degrees: Doctoral applicants must have the appropriate master's degree with a grade point average of not less than 2.50 (3.0 for the PhD), or they must apply under special student status. United States accreditation does not allow any work experience or non-accredited graduate education to count toward a master's equivalency to qualify for the BGU doctoral degree.

Appendix 13. Student Classifications

1. Full-Time Status

To be classified as full-time for financial aid purposes or other programs, a graduate student must satisfy one of the following conditions after acceptance into the program:

- a. The student is enrolled for at least twelve (12) credit hours per academic year; or
- b. The student is enrolled for at least three (3) credit hours per semester for research and composition of a capstone or masters final project or at least eight (8) credit hours per semester for research and composition of a dissertation.

Doctoral-level students who are working on their 8-credit or 13-credit dissertation are considered full-time students for the first year and a half of their writing. However, once a student has passed one and one-half years, their status moves to half time status.

2. Part-Time Status

To be classified as part-time status, a student must be enrolled in at least three (3) semester credit hours per academic year if a master's student and four (4) semester credit hours per academic year if a doctoral student.

3. Inactive Status

An inactive status will result when a student fails to complete at least three (3) semester credit hours per academic year if a master's student or four (4) semester credit hours per academic year if a doctoral student without a formal Leave of Absence notification (see below). After twelve (12) months of inactive status, a student must apply for a Leave of Absence or will be issued a withdrawal notice.

4. Leave of Absence

Students may request a formal Leave of Absence for up to six months (renewable for up to one year total) from his or her degree program. This Leave of Absence will not affect the student's active status. A "Request for Leave of Absence" form (available on BGU website) must be sent to the Registrar's Office for the Academic Dean's approval, which shall be made in consultation with the Academic Cabinet. Leave of absence does not extend the total number of years allowed to complete the degree program.

5. Degree Status

A student is said to have degree status when they have been admitted to one of the master's or doctoral programs at BGU with all appropriate privileges and responsibilities. Specific admission requirements for each program are outlined elsewhere in this Catalog. Degree applicants must complete all application materials and procedures.

6. Regular Admission Status

Students who have met all the admission requirements for a specific degree are admitted to the university with all the rights and privileges associated with regular admission status. A formal letter from the Admissions Director confirms this status.

7. Two-Step Admissions Process

An applicant who is not accepted for admission into any of BGU's degree programs as a result of failing to meet the regular academic standards, i.e. having a grade point average of less than 2.50 or exhibiting an academic weakness, may, at the applicant's sole risk, utilize the following Two-Step Admissions Process.

- a. Preliminary Period. After completing the admissions process, any applicant may take up to two courses of at least three credits each during a Preliminary Period.² Applicants shall remain in "Application Pending" status and not as accepted into a degree program until:
 - i. Two courses of at least three (3) credits each have been completed within a maximum of one year from the date of the first class attended (prerequisites will not count toward this requirement); and
 - ii. An average grade of 3.0 or higher has been received in each of these courses.If an applicant is unsuccessful during the Preliminary Period, he or she will not be granted student status.
- b. Conditional Status. If during the Preliminary Period the applicant's work has been proven to be of graduate-level quality, the applicant may petition the Academic Dean, in consultation with the Academic Cabinet, for acceptance into a degree program under Conditional Status. Acceptance is not guaranteed. If the applicant is accepted, courses taken during the Preliminary Period will be applied to the student's degree program.

An applicant who is accepted after a Preliminary Period (during which their status is Application Pending) will retain Conditional Status for one year following official acceptance, during which time they are expected to:

- a. Take at least 6 credits for a master's degree or 8 credits for a doctoral degree;
- b. Continue to maintain an overall grade point average of 3.0 or above; and
- c. Fulfill degree-specific requirements as explained in each program description.

²All applicants (after completing the application process) are permitted to take up to two classes before acceptance into a degree program, regardless of the number of credits involved (see page 17). Applicants who seek to utilize these two classes as part of a Two-Step Admissions Process should make sure that each class is taken for at least three credits. All courses taken before a student is accepted into a degree program are taken at the student's own risk. Students are not guaranteed acceptance into a degree program.

At the end of the year, if the above conditions have been met, the Registrar will notify the student that they have been changed to Regular Admissions Status. Failure to meet the above conditions will result in dismissal.

At the discretion of the Academic Dean, under advisement from the Academic Cabinet, a student with a weak academic record but strong indications of future academic success may occasionally be admitted directly into Conditional Status, rather than passing through the Preliminary Period.

8. Probationary Status

A student may be placed on academic probation (“Probationary Status”) for failure to maintain an overall 3.0 grade point average. For more information, please see “Academic Probation” below.

9. Special Student Status (Right to Benefit)

BGU will consider applicants for graduate degrees who, although not meeting the standard admission requirements, exhibit sufficient academic ability and knowledge and can present evidence of other ministry or work experience demonstrating academic proficiency. Special Student Status is granted on an individual basis after thorough evaluation by the Academic Dean, in consultation with the Academic Cabinet. For more specific information, please refer to the Section under “Admission as Special Student.”

10. Non-Degree Status

Students may choose to take courses as non-degree seeking students. Non-degree students are those who wish to enroll in a specific course for credit but are not seeking a degree from BGU. The non-degree seeking student must demonstrate to the Registrar’s Office that they have the prerequisite educational experience to study at the level of the matriculating students by filling out a short form application and by providing an official transcript of their highest degree earned.

Non-degree seeking students enrolled in a course for credit are expected to complete the same course work required of degree status students. Non-degree status students are not considered to be admitted to any program and are subject to standard deadlines and fees. If the student wishes to transfer the credits earned for their classes at BGU to another institution, an official transcript must be requested using the “Request for Transcript” (which may be obtained from BGU’s website) and submitted to the Registrar upon successful completion of the required graduate-level work.

11. Audit Status

As space allows, a limited number of students, spouses of students, and alumni may audit courses where that registration option is available. For more information, please see “Audit Registration Policy” in Section II.I.

In most cases, the auditor may convert the audit status to “for credit” status by:

- a. Being accepted into a BGU degree program within one year of the start date of the course,³ ³The opportunity to turn an audited class into “for credit” status is only available to accepted students. Applicants who wish to audit a class with the hope of being accepted into a BGU degree program within one year of

- b. Attending all sessions and participating fully in the on-site portions of the class,
- c. Participating fully in the online portion of the class, including all activities and assignments (including all online assignments, or as specified by the professor of record),
- d. Paying full tuition when the course is converted from audit to credit, and
- e. Submitting the final project or assignments within one year of the start date of the course.

An auditor who fails to attend the on-site portion of the class and/or fails to participate in the online portion of the class automatically forfeits their opportunity to convert the class to credit at a later time, and must retake the class should they desire credit. No fees will be refunded.

12. Educational Experience

A person may wish to attend a BGU class without any further intention of obtaining credit at a future date. A limited number of participants may attend as an “educational experience,” as space allows. These participants are not required to fulfill all of the assignments for the class but will be asked to read selected books from the required reading list in the course syllabus. Full-paying students will always be granted preference in a wait-list situation up to six weeks prior to the course.

BGU occasionally holds classes that are sensitive in nature or that require a certain level of expertise. This may mean that participants attending as an educational experience will be requested not to ask questions or participate in classroom discussions.

the start date of the class do so at their own risk, with no guarantee of acceptance. Applicants must also fulfill the other conditions specified above within one year. Applicants who audit a class and allow more than one year to pass before being accepted into a BGU degree program forfeit their option to convert said class to “for credit” status. Applicants who anticipate a problem should consider NDS status.

Appendix 14. Transfer Policy

The Academic Dean and Registrar will determine which course requirements or electives the transfer courses will satisfy based on the following criteria:

- An official transcript must be provided from the credit-granting institution.
- Courses being transferred must have been at graduate-level work.
- Courses being transferred in must be comparable to the BGU course that is being substituted.
- A minimum grade of B (3.0) is required for any transferred course credit.

Only credits that were not used/required for another degree program may be transferred to BGU. Undergraduate credit will not be accepted as graduate level transfer credit. No credit will be given for non-collegiate learning. The Academic Cabinet may ask applicants who wish to transfer credits from an international school to have their credentials evaluated by World Education Services (www.wes.org). Concurrent work taken at other institutions while a student is enrolled at BGU may be allowed as transfer credit only when permission is granted by the Academic Dean, in consultation with the Academic Cabinet.

The transferability of credits earned at BGU is at the discretion of the receiving college, university, or other educational institution. Students considering transferring to any institution should not assume that credits earned in any program of study at BGU will be accepted by the receiving institution. Similarly, the ability of a degree, certificate, diploma, or other academic credential earned at BGU to satisfy an admission requirement of another institution is at the discretion of the receiving institution. Accreditation does not guarantee credentials or credits earned at (name of institution) will be accepted by or transferred to another institution. To minimize the risk of having to repeat coursework, students should contact the receiving institution in advance for evaluation and determination of transferability of credits and/or acceptability of degrees, diplomas, or certificates earned. In the event the student's credits are not accepted for transfer, the reason will be communicated in writing to the student along with the appeal process. At the current time, BGU has not entered into an articulation agreement with any other institution.

Appendix 15. Admissions Process

Students who desire entrance to BGU should begin the process by submitting an online application via the university's website (www.bgu.edu). In addition to the online application form, the application link also describes and provides forms for most of the below-listed items:

1. Online Application
2. Application Fee non-refundable $50
3. Official Transcript mailed directly from the school granting the highest degree earned (see below for details if an official transcript cannot be mailed from prior school)
4. Two References (BGU forms available on the website) for non-PhD applicants. PhD applicants will need to submit an additional academic reference.
5. Applicant Essay:
 - Masters & Doctoral (non-PhD) Applicants: In 450 to 500 words describe why a degree is being sought through BGU and how this step fits into one's faith and vocational journey. Include a description of ministry and/or business experience.
 - PhD Applicants: An academic writing sample as well as an essay featuring the anticipated research focus.
6. Photograph
7. Photo Identification:
 - For all applicants: A photocopy of a valid passport (photo page) or government-issued ID.
 - For all applicants applying for a student loan/FAFSA: Proof of US citizenship or US residency (must be a US Passport or US Birth Certificate and Driver's License or valid US residency/green card).
8. Personal Learning Community (a minimum of three signed agreements - see Appendix 16)
9. TOEFL Score or Waiver Request (if English is not native/first language)
10. Interview: Every applicant must be interviewed by the program director or their designee prior to application being presented to the Academic Cabinet.

All application materials and forms should be completed and returned to the BGU Office of Admissions. BGU has a rolling admissions process and complete application files are reviewed when the Academic Cabinet meets on the first Thursday of each month. If an applicant has submitted the online application, he/she enters Application Pending status. In that status, he/she has up to nine months to submit the additional required documentation to complete the application file. Any application that is not complete within nine months will expire and the applicant is moved to Prospect status. Applicants who have confirmed with the Registrar that they intend to take classes as part of a Preliminary Period shall have one year to complete the required courses in order to continue with the Two-Step Application Process.

If the official transcript cannot be mailed directly from the applicant's prior school, the student may make a photocopy of their student copy of the official transcript and take to a government office or a notary public to have the copy certified true to the original. The applicant should then mail that certified copy to BGU. If the applicant does not have a student copy of their official transcript (just a copy) BGU will allow the 3-step admissions process.

1. Applicant may be allowed to take two classes.
2. If the applicant passes those two classes with a grade of B or above, they will be admitted conditionally.
3. If the student passes all four classes with a grade of B or above, they will be fully admitted.

If the applicant has no transcript and no diploma, they will need to fill out a BA equivalency worksheet, which will be presented to the Academic Cabinet for approval as a special student (see special student status details in Appendix 17).

If lower degrees are not listed on the official transcript, the applicant may be asked to provide unofficial transcripts for those degrees. Academic transcripts from non-US academic institutions may be evaluated by an outside firm like Evaluation World LLC (www.evaluationworld.com). Any fees associated with that evaluation must be paid by the student before he/she is admitted to any BGU degree program. The Academic Cabinet may ask an applicant from an international school to have their credentials evaluated by World Education Services (www.wes.org).

When the application has been approved by the Academic Dean (in consultation of the Academic Cabinet), a letter of acceptance will be emailed to the applicant. The applicant is then asked to sign a Student Agreement in which he/she formally accepts the offer to become a BGU student and agrees to pay tuition for all courses taken at BGU, etc. At this time the applicant also submits a signed Student Statement, affirming that he/she will respect BGU's doctrinal statement and Code of Conduct while a BGU student. All active students will also be asked annually to reaffirm agreement with BGU's doctrinal statement and code of conduct.

Applicants are permitted to take up to two classes (maximum 6 credits for master's applicants or 8 credits for doctoral applicants) before being admitted into a BGU degree program. Applicants must understand that they are taking these classes at their own risk, since there is no guarantee of admission into the desired program. Applicants must also understand they are taking these classes at their own expense. Only accepted students may apply for BGU discounts, which are not retroactive.

Appendix 16.

Personal Learning Community

The student's PLC is committed to read the project paper for each course, to pray regularly for the student, and to meet four times a year to provide encouragement and strategic direction. Some of these meetings may involve a BGU program director or faculty member facilitating the conversation. When it comes time for the student to write their Final Project (dissertation or thesis), the PLC should assist the student in effectively relating the project to the student's work or ministry context and providing networking opportunities relevant to the project. They often connect the student with valuable community resources and key personnel who may be essential for the success of the project. Regarding the final project, the PLC's responsibilities include:

- evaluating the student's work or ministry context to determine an appropriate Final Project that addresses a real need (doctoral students only),
- assisting in guiding the student in design, implementation, and evaluation of the Final Project (or Capstone); and
- reading the whole Final Project or Capstone and providing valuable input regarding its relevance and workability in addressing the stated problem or opportunity.

Since the PLC is committed to read the project papers for each of the student's courses throughout the BGU learning experience, they will be familiar with the development of the project and with items that have informed the Final Project during the student's course of study. Many will also be stakeholders of the Final Project. The student is encouraged to continue to involve the PLC throughout the entire Final Project process. At the conclusion of the student's program, the PLC members are also asked to fill out an evaluation of the student's progress and whether they feel the student has achieved the desired learning outcomes as stated for each degree. (These forms are found on BGU's website at <https://bgu.edu/students/student-resources/graduation-information>.)

Appendix 17.

Special Student Status Requirements

1. Master's Degrees

Applicants not holding a bachelor's degree or its equivalent (defined as the equivalent number of hours that would normally represent a baccalaureate degree taken in one or more United States Department of Education (USDE) recognized accredited programs, for which the student was not awarded the actual bachelor's degree) may apply to one of BGU's master's programs under Special Student Status (SSS), which is only granted in unusual circumstances and is limited to 15% of BGU's total student body.

The assessment to be conducted by the Academic Dean, in consultation with the Academic Cabinet, may determine additional required courses outside of the degree requirements as stated in BGU's Catalog and other documents. The criteria by which the Academic Dean will evaluate candidates for entrance into a master's degree program under SSS shall include:

- a. Academic knowledge, achievement, and competence, as evidenced by previous writing, speaking, research and project management either inside or outside of formal academic programs (a writing sample is required);
- b. A proven record of previous leadership experience;
- c. Two additional recommendations from the applicant's community indicating at a minimum rating of "good" to "excellent;"
- d. A minimum of five years of ministry or other professional experience; and
- e. An assessment conducted by a subcommittee of the Academic Cabinet in which a review of the documentation in the four areas of criteria listed above has been conducted and possibly a personal interview with the applicant and/or references, ministry colleagues, and members of the applicant's support system.
- f. The documents that the applicant will need to present for consideration include:
 - i. A one-page paper describing a good rationale accounting for the applicant not having had access to higher education, e.g., religion, culture, geographic, etc.;
 - ii. A total of four (4) references: one academic, one professional/work related, one character defining, and one ministry related;
 - iii. Writing samples (one or two) demonstrating graduate level scholarship (grammatical excellence, proficiency in the English language, clarity, synthesis, and objectivity), e.g., a project written for a course, etc.; and
 - iv. A filled-out equivalency worksheet.

2. Doctor of Ministry Degree

Applicants not holding a Master of Divinity (MDiv) degree or its equivalent (which is defined as at least 56 [semester] credit hours in a master's theology program in one or more USDE recognized accredited programs, which the student has taken and passed with a B or better, but for which the student was not awarded the actual MDiv degree), may apply to the Academic Cabinet (AC) to be admitted if they have achieved a master's degree that demonstrates Bible/theology competency in the following manner:

1. The successful completion of 20 credits in Bible and theology, and
2. Completion of the 6-hour Bible/theology assessment course created by BGU (these six credits will be in addition to the core of BGU's 36-credit MATL degree or other non-theology master's degree).

3. Doctor of Transformational Leadership Degree

Applicants not holding a master's degree or its equivalent (which is defined as at least 36 [semester] credit hours in a master's theology program in one or more USDE recognized accredited programs, which the student has taken and passed with a B or better, but for which the student was not awarded the actual master's degree), but meeting and exceeding all other requirements, may be admitted into the Doctor of Transformational Leadership (DTL) degree simultaneously with the Master of Arts in Transformational Leadership (MATL) degree under "Advanced Standing." Normally the MATL degree is a 36-credit degree; however, if the applicant has master's credits to transfer in or has proven ministry leadership experience, the requirements would be reduced to 20 credits for the MATL. According to BGU's accreditation and the Department of Education (DOE), a doctoral degree may not be granted to anyone who has not completed at least 60 graduate-level credits.

The criteria by which the Academic Dean will evaluate candidates include:

- a. An earned bachelor's degree;
- b. Enough master's level course-work to transfer in half of the MATL degree or a minimum of ten (10) years of documented or proven ministry leadership experience;
- c. A minimum age of 35 years old;
- d. The documents required for consideration include:
 - i. A one-page paper describing a good rationale for the applicant not having had access to higher education, e.g., religion, culture, geographic, etc.;
 - ii. A total of two (2) references: one professional/work related and one character defining;
 - iii. Writing samples (one or two) demonstrating graduate level scholarship (grammatical excellence, proficiency in the English language, clarity, synthesis, and objectivity), e.g., a project written for a course, etc.; and
 - iv. An assessment conducted by a subcommittee of the Academic Cabinet that includes a review of the documentation in the seven areas of criteria listed above and possibly a personal interview with the applicant and/or references, ministry colleagues, and members of the applicant's support system.

- ◇ Applicant will not be considered for admission into BGU until the Application Fee has been paid in full.
- + Plus Administrative Fee of $60 assessed to every participant for each class taken.
- ★ Student should consult with their advisor to determine the number of credit hours to audit the class for.
- ◆ Graduation Fee includes direct costs related to graduation, e.g., diploma and diploma cover, final official transcripts (2), medallion, ceremony, program, reception, and other miscellaneous items. This fee is required whether the student attends the ceremony or not.

Other Expenses

The student is responsible for and should consider other additional expenses when budgeting for educational costs.

1. Required books for each course.
2. Lab and other fees for certain courses as indicated.
3. Transportation, housing and meal costs for courses requiring travel for the student.
4. Editing and second reader fees related to the final master's final project or dissertation.
5. Personal graduation expenses in addition to the graduation fee.

Appendix 19. Refund Policy

Fully Online Courses:

Tuition Refund*	Timeframe
100%	before course begins
100% less $100 drop fee and $50 Admin Fee	Within the first week of class
80% less $50 Admin Fee	7-14 days after the course has begun
50% less $50 Admin Fee	15-21 days after the course has begun
0%	After the 21 st day of the course start date

Courses with an Onsite Component:

Tuition Refund*	Timeframe
100% less Onsite and Online Admin Fees	2 weeks before the online portion of an onsite course
80% less Onsite and Online Admin Fee	1-14 days after the online portion of the course has begun unless onsite portion has begun (then no refund)
40% less Onsite and Online Admin Fee	15-21 days after the online portion of the course has begun unless onsite portion has begun (then no refund)
0%	After the onsite portion has begun

*This Refund Policy does not apply to Administrative Fees (Admin Fees), but to tuition only.

Admin Fees are due two weeks prior to all US courses and are 100% refundable up to the first day of the intensive portion of the class. Admin Fees for international courses, however, are due six weeks before the first day of the intensive portion of the class and are only 50% refundable up to two weeks before the first day of the intensive and non-refundable after that time. These fees are sent to the Site Coordinator who is handling the logistics for the class and are, therefore, not refundable. If the Admin Fee is not paid six weeks before the first day of the intensive, the participant risks losing their reservation for that course.

Student Participation: Any student who, at the end of week #1, has not participated in class discussions will be contacted by the professor of the class. During week #2, the eLearning Team will send a list of all non-participants to the Registrar's Office and the Registrar's Office will send an email to all of those students indicating that if they do not participate by week #3 they will be withdrawn from the class and financial penalties (see above refund policy) will apply.

Appendix 20. Financial Aid

1. BGU's Flexible Payment Plans

BGU offers flexible payment plans that are tailored to students' needs. Contact Accounting / Financial Aid Office for details regarding a partial or full payment plan options.

2. Scholarships

BGU does not currently offer any formal scholarship programs. However, the following link may provide information regarding outside scholarship opportunities: <http://www.fastweb.com/> (outside scholarship search)

3. Veteran's Benefits

Selected academic programs of study at BGU are approved by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board's State Approving Agency for enrollment of those eligible to receive benefits under Title 38 and Title 10, U.S. Code, or U.S. veterans. Students who plan to apply for veteran's benefits are urged to inform the admission office well in advance of registration, so that the necessary arrangements may be made with the Veteran's Administration (VA). There are several factors that determine the amount of the benefits for which veterans are eligible.

4. Financial Aid Specific to Native Americans

Native American students seeking financial aid are encouraged to visit a website designed specifically for them at: www.finaid.org/otheraid/natamind.phtml.

5. Personal Financing

Many local banks have loan programs for educational endeavors. Students are encouraged to explore these options if other sources are unavailable to them.

6. Federal Student Loans

To begin, here are a few helpful links for internet access to Financial Aid Information. As the borrower, it is important for an applicant to know the regulations regarding borrowing and repayment of Federal funds, as well as interest that accrues. The first web link below provides that information.

- <http://studentaid.ed.gov/> (Federal Student Aid – U.S. Dept. of Education)
- <http://www.wiredscholar.com/> (general financial aid information and outside scholarship search)
- <http://www.finaid.org/> (general financial aid information)
- www.finaid.org/otheraid/natamind.phtml (Native American Financial Aid information)

BGU has been approved as an institution whose students are eligible for Title IV, Direct Federal Loans (DL) - unsubsidized, as well as DL Grad PLUS loans. This form of financial aid is based upon eligibility and the needs of the student.

The general eligibility requirements are:

- demonstrate financial need (for most programs);
- be a U.S. citizen or an eligible noncitizen;
- have a valid Social Security number (with the exception of students from the Republic of the Marshall Islands, Federated States of Micronesia, or the Republic of Palau);
- be registered with Selective Service, if student is a male they must register between the ages of 18 and 25;
- be enrolled or accepted for enrollment as a regular student in an eligible degree or certificate program;
- be enrolled at least half-time to be eligible for Direct Loan Program funds;
- maintain satisfactory academic progress in college or career school;
- sign the certification statement on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA®) stating that the applicant is not in default on a federal student loan and does not owe money on a federal student grant and
- the federal student aid will only be used for educational purposes; and
- demonstrate applicant is qualified to obtain a graduate degree.

Student need is determined based on the cost of attendance and the expected family contribution (EFC) as calculated through the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) system. Students who are interested in obtaining a loan through the Direct Loan should go to BGU's Virtual Financial Aid Office website at:

https://solutions.campusivy.com/Apps/Core/Account/StudentRegistration_Step2/31400?StudentInitiated=true

BGU contracts with a Federal Aid specialist to coordinate aid for our students.

- Student must log on/register on that site. Please note: Keep track of user name and password in order to return to this site in order to request future Federal Aid.
- Once logged in, complete the "Student Interview" (which takes about 5-10 minutes to complete), along with a FAFSA form and Master Promissory Note (MPN) links will be provided upon starting the student interview.
- Once the interview is submitted, it takes 10 days up to a month to process the federal request providing the interview is in order.

Full Time, Graduate level students are eligible for up to $20,500 per academic year in Title IV Loan assistance. Students are encouraged to thoughtfully consider their financial needs and only borrow what is necessary to cover their educational needs.

Appendix 21. Title IV

Return of Title IV Funds (R2T4) Policy

Federal statute requires BGU to recalculate federal financial aid eligibility for students who withdraw, drop out, are dismissed, or take a leave of absence prior to completing 60% of a payment period or module. The federal Title IV financial aid programs must be recalculated in these situations. Therefore, if a student leaves the institution prior to completing 60% of a payment period or module, the financial aid office recalculates eligibility for Title IV funds. Recalculation is based on the percentage of earned aid using the following Federal Return of Title IV funds formula:

Percentage of payment period or module completed = the number of days completed up to the withdrawal date divided by the total days in the payment period or module. (Any break of five days or more is not counted as part of the days in the module.) This percentage is also the percentage of earned aid.

Funds are returned to the appropriate federal program based on the percentage of unearned aid using the following formula:

Aid to be returned = (100% of the aid that could be disbursed minus the percentage of earned aid) multiplied by the total amount of aid that could have been disbursed during the payment period or module.

If a student earned less aid than was disbursed, the institution would be required to return a portion of the funds and the student would be required to return a portion of the funds. Keep in mind that when Title IV funds are returned, the student borrower may owe a debit balance to the institution.

If a student earned more aid than was disbursed to him/her, the institution would owe the student a post-withdrawal disbursement, which must be paid within 120 days of the student's withdrawal. Refunds are allocated in the following order:

- ◆ Unsubsidized Federal Stafford Loan
- ◆ private and institutional aid
- ◆ the student

Default Policy

If a student does not make loan payments, he or she risks going into default. Defaulting on one's loan has serious consequences. The school, the financial institution that made or owns the loan, the loan guarantor, and the federal government all can take action to recover the money owed. Students must understand how missing a loan payment can be a problem, what default means and the consequences of default, and what the student needs to do if a loan is in default or if the student thinks the default on the loan is an error. Students who are currently in default of Title IV loans or owing Title IV money to any college, university, or seminary will not be eligible to receive financial aid. Transcripts will not be released to any student who is found in default on Title IV federal loans. The defaulted loan may be turned over to a collection agency and/or the United States Department of Education (USDE) for collection. Once a student defaults on a federal student loan, no aid will be processed until the default is rectified. In order to verify that the default has been cleared, a defaulting student must submit to the Financial Aid Office, a copy of a letter from the agency that reported the default, verifying that the default has been cleared and the student is now eligible to receive federal Title IV aid.

Checks & Balances

BGU maintains a strict check-and-balance system between the Accounting Office and the Registrar's Office when handling the Title IV loans, as outlined in detail in the BGU Policies & Procedures Manual.

Appendix 22. Verification of Identity

The Verification of Student Identity Act requires that institutions use one of the following three methods:

- A secure login and pass code;
- Proctored examinations; and
- New or other technologies and practices that are effective in verifying student identification.

Compliance

Every applicant, student and faculty member of BGU is required to create a password in Populi, BGU's student information system (SIS). BGU's application process requires the applicant to provide a valid and legal photo ID prior to admittance and to upload a photo that matches the ID into the Populi database. During weekly Zoom meetings between the professor and the students, students are required to show their faces during the session. Populi is a secure portal into each student's records and into the online classroom, including distance learning. New students create a password and provide their birthdate and official transcripts to verify their identity. Students are responsible for providing their complete and accurate identity information in any identification verification process. It is against BGU policy for a user to give someone his or her password or to allow others to use his or her account.

BGU uses Populi as its learning management system, which integrates with secure student access to courses and other information. All users of Populi are responsible for maintaining the security of their login and password, or any other access credentials as required. Attempting to discover another user's password or attempts to gain unauthorized access to another person's files or email is prohibited.

In addition, Populi provides instructors access to class rosters that include student photos associated with their name and account. Populi also provides student photos associated with their account and this is visible in areas of the course including the discussions. Live audio and video of students interacting in the course is maintained in Zoom Rooms, which are all recorded and maintained securely in the Populi online classroom.

At this time there are no additional student fees associated with student verification. In the event any verification fee is needed, it will be posted on the course registration site to provide an advance alert to students.

BGU complies fully with the provisions of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), 20 U.S.C. 1232g. This act protects the privacy of student information in distance education by requiring, with certain limited exceptions, that the student's consent must be obtained before disclosing any personally identifiable information in the student's education records. Zoom recordings will not be released to the public without the expressed permission of all parties involved in the recording.

Appendix 23. Student Right to Know Act

BGU, acting in compliance with the Student Right to Know Act, is pleased to provide the following information on the graduation rates of our students who have received financial aid. The graduation rates show the graduation/completion status of students who enrolled for whom 150% of the normal time to complete a master or doctoral degree is within 7 years of enrollment. Things to keep in mind when viewing this information:

- Retention and graduation rates are for a select group of students.
- All graduation rates are based on 7 years of attendance which is equal to 150% of the normal completion time of BGU’s longest academic program.
- Graduation rates do not include students who left school:
 - To serve in the armed forces
 - To take part in official church missions,
 - To help with a foreign aid service of the federal government
- Graduation rates do not include students who have died or become totally disabled.
- Students who withdrew for personal or medical reasons are included in the original headcount.

For the current graduation rates, please go to BGU’s website:

<https://bgu.edu/StudentAchievement>

Completion Rates/Student Achievement

During the fall semester of 2018, 50 first-time, full-time, certificate or degree-seeking graduate students entered BGU. After 7 years (as of July 1, 2024), 20 (40%) of these students have graduated from our institution or completed their programs. Of those who did not graduate, 6 are still working to complete their degree and 24 withdrew for either financial, academic, or personal reasons. The ethnicity of those who graduated include Asian, Black, Hispanic, and White.

Year Admitted	Number Admitted	Graduated	Transferred	Withdrawn	Current	Retention %
2013	51	41	0	5	5	80%
2014	43	20	0	14	6	47%
2015	38	17	0	16	5	45%
2016	49	24	0	11	14	49%
2017	36	17	0	11	7	49%
2018	48	20	0	22	6	54%

Any questions regarding this report should be directed to Bunmi Morgan, Registrar at Bunmi.Morgan@bgu.edu

Appendix 24. FERPA Policy

The Act affords students certain rights with respect to their education records such as the right to inspect and review education records within 45 days of receipt for access and the right to amend records the student believes are inaccurate or misleading. The U.S. Department of Education's summary of the FERPA regulations lists the following conditions under which student records can be disclosed without consent:

1. School officials with legitimate educational interest;
2. Other schools to which a student is transferring;
3. Specified officials for audit or evaluation purposes;
4. Appropriate parties in connection with financial aid to a student;
5. Organizations conducting certain studies for or on behalf of the school;
6. Accrediting organizations;
7. To comply with a judicial order or lawfully issued subpoena;
8. Appropriate officials in cases of health and safety emergencies;
9. State and local authorities within a juvenile justice system, pursuant to state law;
10. Directory information.

FERPA permits the following to be designated as directory information: the student's name, address, and telephone listing; email address; photograph; date and place of birth; major field of study; dates of attendance; grade level; enrollment status (e.g. undergraduate or graduate, full or part-time); and most recent educational institution attended. The following are never designated as directory information: student's social security number; citizenship; gender; religious preference; grades; or GPA.

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA) also provides that: 1) students shall have the right of access to their educational records; and 2) educational institutions shall not release educational records to non-school employees without the consent of the student (or former student). With few exceptions, which are provided by law, students may see any of their educational records upon written request to the Registrar.

A total record of a student's academic progress, commonly referred to as the permanent record, is kept in the Office of the Registrar. These records include the student's grade sheets, degrees granted, official transcript, and a photocopy of the student's diploma. These files are retained in locked, fireproof cabinets. The student and faculty records that are maintained in the computer database are backed up on a regular basis. The Registrar's Office ensures that these records are kept private and accurate. Records shall be made available in a timely manner in accordance with state and federal laws and regulations.

Appendix 25. Independent Studies

In an independent or directed study, strict procedures of control and accountability must be in place for the courses to fulfill the stated purposes and reach the desired outcomes of the degree program. The student must obtain the service of existing faculty for supervision or propose another qualified course supervisor from outside the institution. All such courses must be approved by the Academic Cabinet in advance. The standards and requirements for an independent or directed study are the same as the requirements and standards for all of BGU courses. There is no distinction made between the standards or requirements. BGU does not offer correspondence courses, which are courses completed by the student without weekly, direct interaction with the professor.

Independent or Directed Study courses are generally designed for four (4) credits each for doctoral-level courses and three (3) credits each for master-level courses. Reading and writing requirements match those of courses in BGU programs and include at a minimum one hour per week of face-to-face interaction between the student and professor. This interaction may be via telephone, Zoom, or any other technology and should be recorded. Reading and writing requirements should be calculated to reach the appropriate number of hours required for the degree and the number of credits being requested for the course. If the student is taking a Directed Study that includes attending a seminar or conference, the actual participation time spent during the conference may be counted toward the “seat time” and will count toward the total number of hours allotted to the course.

Students should request the Independent or Directed Study Contract and Policy from the Registrar or download the Independent Study Packet from the website (<https://bgu.edu/students/student-resources/student-documents-to-download>). The participant must submit the completed forms along with a proposed syllabus, supervisor information, and tuition payment to the Registrar for approval by the Academic Dean, in consultation with the Academic Cabinet. Tuition is calculated at the current rate of tuition per credit. If the study is not approved, any pre-paid tuition will be refunded.

Students must propose an Independent or Directed Study Supervisor who has an earned terminal (doctoral level) degree and who will evaluate the student’s work for BGU and assign a grade at the end of the course study. If a non-BGU faculty member is proposed, the supervisor must be approved by the Academic Dean. If a student is interested in including attendance at a conference or seminar as part of an independent study, the request may be presented to the Academic Dean, but will only be approved on a case-by-case basis, in consultation with the Academic Cabinet. Supplemental reading and reports will be required.

The time limit for completion of an Independent or Directed Study is 90 days (3 months) from the date of the Academic Cabinet meeting at which the course contract is approved by the Academic Dean. This means all coursework proposed in the syllabus must be submitted to the Supervisor at the 90-day due date. After the 90-day period, the student will be charged a $50 per month extension fee with a maximum of three (3) extensions allowed, in accordance with BGU’s standard extension policy.

If the student has proposed a Directed Study (which is typically designed in tandem with a seminar or leadership conference) and the conference or seminar dates are such that completion of the course work must be extended, no additional charge will be made to the student’s account.

- POR Requirements to lead an Independent Study:
 - Assist the student in constructing a proposed Independent Study course syllabus following the guidelines found in the Student Handbook pages 47-48 and calculate the required number of hours to be invested by the student using the calculations in the Student Handbook.
 - Interact weekly with the student through a Populi-based discussion.
 - Interact weekly with the student in a Zoom Room.
 - Guide the student to complete their final project.
 - Review and grade the completed coursework assignments from the student at the end of 90 days after approval or at the end of extensions granted.
 - Forward graded coursework and Grade Summary (last page of this packet) to the Registrar's Office for recording in student's record no later than two months after receipt of coursework.

Appendix 26. Course Requirements

1. Attendance Policy

BGU's degree programs include fully online courses as well as hybrid courses that combine online components with face-to-face urban immersions, local cohorts and mentors. Urban immersions are held in various large cities on five continents and all travel expenses are the responsibility of the student.

Students are required in every BGU course to have substantial interaction with the faculty and peers throughout the full course. This involves requirements to post responses in the online campus to questions about the video lectures or reading in the first half of each week, and then respond to other student posts in the second half of each week. Additionally, a weekly video conference with professors and guest lecturers is required. In some courses, professors may require conferences with students and/or their Personal Learning Communities. In most courses, interaction with faculty, peers, and personal learning communities is a significant factor in the student's final grade for the course.

As a general rule, each course will be divided into the following supervised format (excluding pre- and post-course requirements):

Weeks 1 and 2: Student will participate in online discussions, video conference calls, exercises, and assignments as determined by the professor. The syllabus for each specific course should be consulted for further details.

Weeks 3 and/or 4 (for hybrid courses): Consists of three to ten days of in-person face-to-face class meetings, including lectures, guest speakers, student presentations and site visits.

Weeks 5 and 6: Continued participation in online discussions, exercises, and assignments as determined by the professor. This may include group exercises with other class members; connections assignments in the local community; specific assignments and conference calls with student, the professor and the Personal Learning Community (PLC).

Week 7: in some courses, students work with peers on group projects to present in Weeks 8 and 9.

Weeks 8 and 9: Often these weeks will involve online reporting on group projects attended by all class members using Zoom (Virtual Room). Students are encouraged to invite one of their PLC members to their group presentation. In most cases, final reading reports and the final project are due two (2) weeks after the end of class.

Please note: Students reading in English for whom English is a second language (ESL) may read or write 25% slower than what is required of English-speaking students. Students who are reading or writing in Chinese should calculate that 10 pages of English are equal to seven pages of Chinese.

Course syllabi are in the Populi course information page approximately three months prior to the course starting date. Syllabi are also available via mail or e-mail upon request. To allow sufficient time for course reading assignments, the student should be admitted to the university and register for courses at least sixty (60) days in advance. Students will only be admitted late into a class during the first week of the class. Once the second week has begun, no new students will be admitted.

Most courses require one written book review for each credit for which the student is taking the class, a journal of the course, and a research portion, which includes a project that integrates reading and class content with the student's current ministry work. The typical breakdown of requirements is as follows:

HOURS CALCULATION EXAMPLES
3-credit Master	Activity (Minimum Requirement)	Time Calculation	Student's Activity	Activity Hours
	Reading (1,200 pages min.; less if textbooks)	1 hr for @ 25 pages read	1,200 Pages read	48 hours
	Book Reports and Course Papers	1 hr for @ polished page	6 pages of book reviews	6 hours
	Student/Prof Conferences (synchronous)	1 hr for @ actual hr. spent	14 hrs. in-class	14 hours
	Online time (asynchronous)	1 hr for @ actual hr. spent	35 hrs. on-line	35 hours
	Journaling (as directed by POR)	1 hr for @ 2 pages of journal	18 pages of journal	9 hours
	Research	1 hr for actual hr. spent	8 hours	8 hours
	Project (as authorized by POR)	1 hr for @ polished page	15 pages of final project	15 hours
	Target: 45 hours x 3 credits=135			Total	134 hours

4-credit Doctorate	Activity (Minimum Requirement)	Time Calculation	Student's Activity	Activity Hours
	Reading (1,800 pages min.; less if textbooks)	1 hr for @ 25 pages read	1,800 Pages read	72 hours
	Book Reports and Course Papers	1 hr for @ polished page	8 pages of book reviews	8 hours
	Student/Prof Conferences (synchronous)	1 hr for @ actual hr. spent	14 hrs. in-class	14 hours
	Online time (asynchronous)	1 hr for @ actual hr. spent	35 hrs. on-line	35 hours
	Journaling (as directed by POR)	1 hr for @ 2 pages of journal	18 pages of journal	9 hours
	Research	1 hr for actual hr. spent	10 hours	10 hours
	Project (as authorized by POR)	1 hr for @ polished page	20 pages of final project	20 hours

	PLC Interaction	1 hr for actual hr. spent	7 hours	7 hours
	Target: 45 hours x 4 credits=180		Total	175 hours

2. Reading Policies

Reading assignments are to be performed in accordance with guidelines as available on the university website or from the Registrar’s Office. Half of the required reading must be completed by the first day of the class, although the book reports are not due until projects and/or journals are submitted to the university. In some cases, changes to courses or late postings of reading assignments may lead to a modification of this schedule. If a modification of schedule should occur, it will be posted on the BGU website and enrolled students will receive an e-mail notification. The standard book review requirement is one book review for each credit taken.

3. Course Assignments and Projects

Course projects for courses that include an onsite element are to be submitted to the professor of record for grading by the due date indicated in the course syllabus. All assignments will be turned in online using the Populi online classroom drop box; please refer to the syllabus for specific information regarding assignment submission. Every project submitted to BGU must be submitted using the paper template in APA7 format, as described in the Student Handbook, which is available on the website.

Professors will assign both project and final course grades, and then submit those grades to the Office of the Registrar for each student’s permanent record within 60 days of receipt of the projects. Student will be able to access their official grade reports in the Populi online classroom. In all cases the student should carefully read the course syllabus to ensure proper submission of projects.

4. Extensions and Incompletes

a. Policy on Extensions and Incompletes

If a student does not submit his or her project by the due date, a temporary grade of “I” (Incomplete) will be recorded in the student’s file. Any time before the final due date of the project, a student may ask the Registrar to have his or her status in the class be changed to “withdrawn,” but the normal cancellation fees will still apply. A change to “withdrawn” will not affect the student’s Grade Point Average (GPA). If a student has received an extension, he/she may not take another course until the requirements for the extension requested have been fulfilled.

b. Extension Request Process

A student may apply for a 1-month extension due to extenuating circumstances as long as 80% of the coursework has already been completed.

- The extension request must be signed by the Professor of Record (POR) and submitted to the Registrar’s Office.

- If the student is unable to complete the work by the 1-month extension due date, the student may submit a special extension request for extenuating circumstances for up to two months from the original due date.
- If the student's special extension request is for medical reasons and the special extension is beyond the first month, a doctor's note will be required.
- Under special circumstances a special extension may be granted for longer than three months but not longer than six months.
- Extensions for non-medical reasons or death in the immediate family may incur a drop in the student's final grade by a half a grade (i.e. an A grade would be reduced to an A-).
- If the student fails to complete the work within the three months (for a maximum of six months), they will be required to retake the class at the retake fee of $400 plus the $50 Admin Fee.
- Whether or not the student has filed a request for extension, the student account will automatically be charged $50 per month starting the second month of the extension taken.
- The student may not start another course until all work from courses with extensions have been completed.

c. Policy on Extensions for Dissertation/Final Projects

Students who enter into the dissertation/final project phase of their doctoral degree by registering for Dissertation (DIS701A) part 1 and fail to complete their dissertation within one year will be charged a $100 per year extension fee and registration for the class will be moved to the next year.

5. Course Load

To maintain active enrollment students must register for and complete a minimum of four (4) credits per academic year for doctoral students and a minimum of three (3) credits per academic year for master's students. A student is considered full-time if he/she takes twelve (12) credits per academic year. Doctoral-level students who are working on their 8-credit Dissertations or Doctoral Final Project are considered full-time students for the first year and a half of their writing. However, once a student has passed one and one-half years, their status moves to half time status. A student may not take more than 16 credit hours in one academic year, unless special permission is granted by the Academic Dean, in consultation with the Cabinet. A student can only double a course's value of credits twice within a specific program, e.g. a 4-credit course may be converted to an 8-credit course or a 3-credit course to a 6-credit course, but this can only be done twice in the program.

Withdrawal from a Course

A student may withdraw from a course after he or she has registered by notifying the Office of the Registrar using the "Request-CourseWithdrawal" form that can be found on the BGU website at <https://bgu.edu/students/student-resources/student-documents-to-download> in the Populi online Library. The grading policies will apply in the case of withdrawals (see also Refund Policies in Chapter 3, Financial Information) when a notice of withdrawal has been submitted any time after the first day of the course. A grade of "W" will be filed on the student's transcript.

Cancellation of a Course

The minimum number of students registered for a course shall be six (6). If the course minimum is not reached six (6) weeks prior to the course start date, the course may be canceled, and the registered students notified. Students should not confirm travel arrangements until the class is less than six weeks away. Students who wish to purchase airfare ahead of the six-week mark should contact the Academic Dean's office for confirmation. An unexpected unavailability of a scheduled instructor or other circumstances not foreseen may also warrant cancellation of a course. In any event, students who registered prior to the six-week course registration deadline will then be permitted to transfer their registration deposit to another course or request a refund. In many cases, the student may choose to convert the course to an independent study course.

Doubling the Number of Credits of a Course

Students can petition the Academic Dean to double the number of credits earned for a course (while doubling the amount of student work) only twice in the course of a program. This policy is put in place in order to expose students to the richness of the BGU offering.

Appendix 27. Grading Scale & Criteria

GRADING SCALE
Grade is based on whether the following elements were demonstrated:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • integration of desired learning outcomes • critical thinking • contextual application within the global picture • relevance to the topic • quality of writing (graduate-level).
Ltr	GPA	Low %	High %	Explanation
A+	4.00	98	100	Excellent, creative and resourceful both in content and mechanics
A	4.00	95	97	Excellent work both in content and mechanics
A-	3.67	92	94	Excellent content with minor mechanics issues
B+	3.34	89	91	Appropriate content and mechanics
B	3.00	86	88	Fair content and mechanics
B-	2.67	82	85	Minimal content and mechanics
C+	2.34	79	81	Insufficient for graduate-level credit
D	2.00	76	78	Insufficient for graduate-level credit
F	Failure
W	Withdrawal
I	Incomplete

Appendix 28. Grading Rubric

BGU has created grading rubrics for use by professors and students so that students will clearly understand their final grade. Students are invited to read through those rubrics so that they know exactly what is expected of them as BGU students. Most of the courses will list those rubrics under “Files,” but they can also be found in the BGU online library or viewed by the students in their course files:

<https://bgu.populiweb.com/library/resource.php?resourceID=11175577>

Appendix 29.

Satisfactory Academic Progress Defined

BGU's satisfactory academic progress is evaluated in increments coinciding with payment periods. In order to ensure completion of the program within the maximum time frame, BGU requires program students to successfully complete the required course credits attempted in each payment period. All students must have completed the minimum required course credits attempted in order to graduate within the maximum time frame allowed for each degree program. Students who have not completed their program within the established maximum time frame will be terminated for not making satisfactory progress.

A student must achieve the above-mentioned minimum standards to be considered to be making satisfactory progress. Students who fail to maintain satisfactory progress will be placed on academic probation until the deficiencies are corrected or until the end of the next assessment period, whichever comes first. While on academic probation, the student remains eligible for all Title IV financial aid funds. Students who have been on probation and fail to correct the deficiencies by the end of the probationary period may be terminated.

A student who has been suspended may reapply to BGU after remaining out of school for one month. At that time, the student's academic records will be evaluated in order to determine if it is possible for a cumulative grade point to be achieved and for the program to be completed within the maximum time frame of 150%. If both standards can be achieved, the student will be readmitted and will be eligible for Title IV funds upon re-enrollment. If it is not possible for the student to meet both standards, the student will be allowed to enroll only if alternative financing can be arranged, as the student will no longer be eligible for any Title IV financial aid.

After being readmitted to BGU, any student not earning a 3.0 and completing 67% of the credits or hours attempted each month thereafter will be academically dismissed from BGU and will not be eligible for readmission as a Title IV eligible student.

Students may appeal a determination of probation or suspension or dismissal due to unsatisfactory progress or any other academic policy mentioned herein within 14 days from the date of determination. All appeals shall be submitted in writing, outlining the grounds for appeal to the Academic Dean through the office of the Registrar. All appeals will receive a written response that shall remain final.

Satisfactory progress requires that a student either raise the cumulative GPA to an acceptable level, or that the student makes progress towards earning the acceptable GPA during the probationary period, as detailed below. The student will be removed from probation and placed in good standing if a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher is achieved after completing the required 12 semester hours required during the probationary period. If the student does not raise the cumulative GPA to good standing, the student will be placed on suspension. Please refer to the Academic Suspension policy for details.

If the GPA for the probationary period is 3.5 or higher, but the student does not raise the cumulative GPA to the minimum 3.0 or higher, a secondary probation period may begin.

A doctoral student may be placed on academic probation due to violation of academic integrity or whenever their grade point average (GPA) falls below 3.0 on a 4.0 scale. The conditions of academic probation are specified to the student in writing by the Office of the Registrar. Once placed on academic probation, a doctoral student has six credit hours to raise their GPA to 3.0 or higher. If a doctoral student does not achieve a GPA of 3.0 or higher, he/she is subject to academic dismissal from the program. The conditions of academic probation are submitted to the Program Director by the Academic Dean. The Program Director, with appropriate consultation with the Academic Cabinet, will determine the enrollment status of the student.

The Academic Dean, in consultation with the Academic Cabinet, will determine the length of time a student is required to stay on academic probation and the conditions that must be met to be removed from probation. If the conditions of academic probation are not met, the student will be suspended. If the conditions are met the student may be readmitted into regular student status. If a student receives a D or F in a course, that course must be retaken if the student wishes to receive course credit toward their degree. A student may re-enroll in courses under an academic probation status. If the student is suspended a second time, dismissal from the university shall be for a period of one year and the student may not re-apply until after that period.

Academic Suspension

Should the probationary student fail to demonstrate satisfactory progress, students will be academically suspended for a period no less than one module. A student may request reinstatement after the suspension period has expired. If a second suspension occurs, the student will be suspended for a period of at least six months before they are eligible to request reinstatement. If a third suspension occurs, the student must wait a minimum of one calendar year before requesting reinstatement.

Requests for reinstatement must be made to the Academic Dean no later than one month prior to the desired enrollment period. Reinstatement following academic suspension will be determined by the Academic Cabinet and is not automatic.

Students who enroll in other colleges or universities while on academic suspension from BGU will not be eligible for reinstatement to BGU until the cumulative grade point average from these other colleges and universities is 3.0 or higher.

Once reinstated, the student will return on probation for a period of 12 semester hours. The student is expected to demonstrate academic progress while on probation.

Academic Probation

A student may be automatically placed on academic probation (“Probationary Status”) for failure to maintain an overall 3.0 grade point average. A student will remain on academic probation for 12 semester hours (four courses). While on academic probation, a student will have to demonstrate sustained satisfactory progress and develop an action plan for academic improvement, approved by their Program Director, which may include referral to the Academic Cabinet. Students may be limited to enrolling in one course at a time until a cumulative GPA of 3.0 is achieved. In addition, a student may be delayed from enrolling in the next course pending evaluation of academic progress.

Dismissal

BGU reserves the right to dismiss students whose academic progress is substandard. Factors considered will include, but are not limited to, the number of failing grades, past academic performance, the number of withdrawn courses, and the probability of achieving satisfactory academic standing within a reasonable time frame. Students are subject to academic dismissal (without a probationary period) from the program for a full calendar year if their GPA falls below 2.0 or if they withdraw from the majority of courses within the last 12 semester hours. Appeal or reinstatement from academic dismissal shall be made to the Academic Dean through the Office of the Registrar. Inactive Status Students who do not submit any coursework within a 12-month period will be considered inactive and any tuition being held by BGU will be forfeited. Students desiring to return to their studies must be reevaluated and will be subject to any changed academic requirements, tuition increases, and policy changes in force at the time of re-enrollment.

Bakke Graduate University thanks in advance those who contribute to the university's social media pages, and for compliance and assistance in creating a safe and vibrant online community. Any questions or concerns should be emailed to info@bgu.edu.

Appendix 31.

Records Retention Policy

A total record of a student's academic progress, commonly referred to as the permanent record, is kept in the Office of the Registrar. These records include the student's grade sheets, degrees granted, official transcript, and a photocopy of the student's diploma. These files are retained in locked, fireproof cabinets. The student and faculty records that are maintained in the computer database are backed up on a regular basis. The Registrar's Office ensures that these records are kept private and accurate. Records shall be made available in a timely manner in accordance with state and federal laws and regulations.

Supporting documents for academic records, such as registration forms, curriculum guides, letters, and transcripts from other universities, are kept for a maximum period of five (5) years following the student's date of graduation or the last day of enrollment. After five years it is assumed that the student accepts the accuracy of their record. Discrepancies in any academic record should be reported to the Registrar immediately.

Once a degree has been certified by the Office of the Registrar, the student's record may not be altered except in cases where a procedural or clerical error has occurred. However, if the student or BGU discovers facts that were not known or would not have reasonably been known within the 5-year period, the academic record may be altered and/or the degree may be revoked.

Any student seeking readmission after the 5-year period has elapsed is issued a new student folder and is normally required to adopt a new academic program. In addition, the student might be required to resubmit transcripts from other universities. No credits are lost, but in certain programs a student may be required to audit courses or to validate prior learning through examination.

Document Imaging

Document imaging may be the most effective and efficient means for retaining certain types of records. However, any department that is contemplating replacing original financial documentation with images of those records must consult the Chief Financial Officer (CFO) prior to implementing such a system. The Leadership Team should review proposals for such systems with the Chief Financial Officer and specify areas of concern. Most permanent (archival) records must be scanned and saved on a permanent disc, which will be stored in a facility off-site from the BGU campus. Permanent records not sent off campus via document imaging must be maintained in a fireproof container and access must be limited to authorized personnel.

The following requirements must be met:

1. Electronic records must exhibit a high degree of legibility and readability;
2. Paper copies or computerized books and records must be transferred to electronic storage media in an accurate and complete manner;
3. Procedures must be developed to index, store, preserve, retrieve, and reproduce all electronically stored books and records;
4. Controls must be developed to ensure the integrity, accuracy, and reliability of the electronic records;

5. Controls must be developed to prevent and detect the unauthorized creation, alteration, addition, deletion, or deterioration of electronically stored books and records; and
6. An inspection and quality assurance program must be developed which must include regular evaluations of the system and periodic checks of storage books and records.

If imaging systems that meet the above requirements are implemented, original paper records only need to be retained through the active period as defined below.

Records Destruction Schedule

This records retention/destruction schedule is based on recommendations developed by the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admission Officers' (AACRAO) Retention of Records: Guide for Retention and Disposal of Student Records (2000). The BGU Registrar's Office is the official repository for BGU students' academic records. It has primary responsibility to maintain the official grades for all coursework undertaken at BGU as part of each student's academic record. This retention schedule provides instruction for how long those records must be maintained.

Because the Registrar's Office is the official repository of BGU student records, other units on campus are released from the responsibility to maintain student academic records for extended periods. Any record that is deemed no longer necessary for permanent retention must be shredded properly to protect the privacy of students, faculty, and staff.

BGU's Unique Areas of Expertise

1. A Worldwide Global Network

Initially developed through more than 25 years of city-consultations in 250 of the world's largest cities, BGU's network opens doors for life-changing immersions in global cities led by insiders to those cities. In these courses, cities become the laboratories and practitioners become the professors. These leader-to-leader connections open up a wealth of lifetime resources for every BGU student.

2. Bible-Based Curriculum

With a high view of Scripture, the Bible is taught and applied in a narrative fashion rather than from a particular system or denominational perspective. Not only does this approach provide new insights, it prepares students to be cross-cultural in their teaching and practice of biblical principles.

3. Global Urban Studies

Starting with the traditional categories of relief, development, and advocacy, and moving into emerging areas of micro-enterprise, environmental sustainability, global media, and cultural movements, students learn from both the classic studies in this field, as well as the most recent innovations.

4. Theology of Work

People want to find meaning in their daily lives and make a difference through their work. This requires a holistic understanding of work, calling, life, relationships, community, influence, health, and the environment. BGU teaches the personal calling of work, ethics of work, spirituality of work, and personal/ organizational mission and work. Recognized as a global leader in these topics, BGU has taught theology of work to faculty and leaders in colleges, seminaries, and agencies in almost 40 countries. Applied to all aspects of business and city transformation, this provides a united underpinning within every BGU course.

5. Academic Quality and Breadth

BGU's faculty are world-class subject matter experts in their respective fields and regions of the world. Students learn from the best on the subjects of global research and theory and are equipped with the scholarship disciplines they need to be global thought and action leaders.

6. Practical Skills

In-the-action urban leaders demand immediate application. All of BGU's programs allow students to continue in their current work situations. Students write assignments to their own family and work teams (Personal Learning Communities) rather than professors. Students work on assignments that solve current problems they are facing in their work. Students work in geographically-dispersed teams that require application of global technologies and tools that will immediately increase their skills at communicating in a globalized world. Many of BGU's top areas of expertise involve practical skills essential for effective community development, project management, leading teams and accessing resources.

7. Innovation and Entrepreneurship

Many in the BGU network serve in developing economies where new organizations and new solutions are essential. Culturally-diverse classrooms dictate that no single professor has all the answers. As a result, BGU has had to create learning experiences based on cross-cultural immersions, problem solving, intense dialogue and various tools to help students reflect constantly on the 'why', as well as the 'how', of what they are learning. This diversity of learning approaches gives students timeless and emerging principles they can build a lifetime of innovation upon. The relationships that are forged expand the student's vision and network to a global perspective.

Appendix 43.

BGU Administrative Team

The following members have been assigned administrative duties, are salaried, and have been appointed by the Academic Dean, in consultation with the Academic Cabinet.

Bryan McCabe

BGU President

- ◆ DMin, Bakke Graduate University, Seattle, WA
- ◆ MA, California State University, Fresno, CA 2005
- ◆ BS, Malone University, Canton, OH 1999

Professional Experience: Bryan McCabe serves as BGU President after serving for several years as BGU's Academic Dean and DTL Director. He is also a pastor at North Way Christian Community, a multi-site, nondenominational church located in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. He leads the North Way East End campus located in the heart of a diverse, urban neighborhood called East Liberty. He also leads a faith-based youth mentoring initiative called the Learning and Mentoring Partnership, or L.A.M.P., in the Homewood neighborhood of Pittsburgh. Bryan is passionate about multi-ethnic church, cross-cultural ministry, high risk youth, and incarnational leadership. He speaks frequently on those subjects locally in Pittsburgh, and he has also had the opportunity to teach and do research globally in India and Latin America. As a former public school teacher and administrator, he also enjoys mobilizing Christians to become engaged in education. Bryan lives out incarnational leadership in Homewood with his family.

Brad Smith

BGU Chancellor

- ◆ PhD in School Administration and Supervision, Berne University, PA
- ◆ DMin in Urban Leadership, Bakke Graduate University
- ◆ MPh in Missiology, New Covenant International, FL
- ◆ MA in Educational Leadership, The Open University, Great Britain

Professional Experience: Martine served for over 25 years in Africa and Haiti. She helped coordinate urban consultations with Ray Bakke and Glenn Smith in Abidjan and Haiti and eventually did her DMin with BGU. After having served for 8 years as associate director of the Masters and Doctoral Programs in Holistic Development and Transformational Leadership of the theological seminary of the Christian Alliance (FATEAC – now University of the Christian Alliance in Abidjan/UACA) in Abidjan, Côte d'Ivoire, she has relocated to France to serve as BGU's Academic Dean. She is also an associate member of Global Scholars, a Christian university professors' network. She has a variety of publications both in the field of Educational Management and of Transformational Leadership.

Merle Baldwin

Director of Administration & Finance

- ◆ ASC in Agriculture, Jamaica School of Agriculture
- ◆ BSc in Agronomy, University of the West Indies, St. Augustine
- ◆ MBA (course work only), Manchester School of Business

Professional Experience: Merle has performed a wide range of duties relating to general administration, financing and accounting; new product development; production efficiency, and, human and resources management for over twenty years in the print and food industries as the Director of Administration/Finance. She has written several successful business proposals for private companies funded by local banks and the European Union and, as part of a team, produced agricultural proposals for the Government of Jamaica which were funded by international donor agencies including the World Bank. Notwithstanding, it is her love for the less fortunate that drives her life-long work in ministry. She has merged her love for the culinary arts with serving others, whether homeless persons, Sunday School young adults, or inner-city children. Merle has two adult Christian, married children, and one grand-baby girl.

Julia Burke

Executive Assistant to the President/Office Manager

Professional Experience: Julia began working at BGU in March of 2020 after working at Leadership Network for 20 years as Program Coordinator. She serves as the BGU office manager, associate registrar, and human resources representative.

Jad Dagher

IT Administrator

- ◆ ThM in Homiletics & Christian Leadership, Dallas Theological Seminary
- ◆ BSc, Lebanese American University.

Professional Experience: Jad Dagher is the IT Administrator at BGU and Project Manager with a diverse background spanning different continents and disciplines. Born in Ivory Coast and raised in Lebanon, he holds an undergraduate degree in Marketing and Management from the Lebanese American University in Beirut, and a Master's in Theology from Dallas Theological Seminary (2021). Jad's career has been defined by his unwavering commitment to humanitarian work, having served with Samaritan's Purse across the Middle East. Currently, as a Project Manager at Our Calling, a prominent Dallas homeless ministry, he leverages his expertise to drive impactful initiatives. Outside the professional realm, Jad is known for his culinary passion, especially his love for discovering the finest burgers in Dallas. He shares this passion with his wife, Lizzie, whom he met while studying at Dallas Theological Seminary. His appetite for challenges and continuous learning sets him apart as an adaptable and dedicated professional. Connect with Jad to explore collaboration opportunities or gain insights into Dallas's vibrant food scene and his life's journey with Lizzie.

Sarah Dhanaraj

HR Coordinator

- ◆ B.E., Madras University, India

Professional Experience: Sarah has served as a Missions mentor at SIM for 18 years having served in several departments over that span of time. Her love for people and her desire to see them walking in the will and purposes of God has been her driving force over those years. She is a qualified Prayer Companion. Drawing from past experiences in her own life and coupled with her training from the Trauma Healing Institute, she seeks to walk alongside those who carry heart wounds to help bring Bible-based healing into their lives.

Zachary Hamilton

Chief Operations Officer

- ◆ DTL, Bakke Graduate University, Dallas, TX (2019)
- ◆ MASCE Bakke Graduate University, Seattle, WA (2012)
- ◆ BSc in Biblical Studies, Baptist College of Florida, Graceville, FL (2009)

Gea Gort-Bakker

Urban Mission

- ◆ DMin, Bakke Graduate University, WA
- ◆ BC, Journalism, Fontys Hogeschoolen, Tilburg

Professional Experience: Dr. Gort-Bakker lives in Rotterdam, Holland, and is an author, journalist, and director of GIDSnetwerk Rotterdam. Gea aims to make the Church aware of what God is doing regarding urban mission; local and global. She does so by telling stories of people involved, and by reflecting on (theological) ways of thinking. She combined stories and reflection in God in the City; A Missional Way of Life in an Urban Context (2012). She also initiated the book & awareness campaign in the Netherlands God ain't White (2013), about how the Dutch slavery past is still affecting relationships today. Locally Gea connects Christian leaders, active in church, politics and business. Internationally she is well connected through her past with relief organization Mercy Ships. She graduated at BGU for her Doctor of Ministry in 2012. Presently she is researching Business as Mission (BAM) from and within the Western-European Context for a Book & Go Project.

Susan Spousta

- ◆ MAGUL, Bakke Graduate University, Seattle, WA
- ◆ BA, Life Pacific University (formerly Life Bible College)

Professional Experience: Susan Spousta has served in a number of church and denominational roles over the past thirty years. Most recently she developed “Affinity Networks” on behalf of the Foursquare National Church. The networks provide an opportunity to gather leaders passionate about social justice and urban concerns. Sue’s educational endeavors, along with the experience of an urban pastorate, prompted an “urban-change-of-heart” that has produced newfound compassion for the most vulnerable and a radical hope for cities. With a renewed sense of kingdom mission, she looks forward to a greater discovery of God’s present work in our world as a fulfillment of His future purpose. Sue, and her husband Larry, relocated from Portland, OR to Frederick, MD in late 2017. They have enjoyed their new city and its proximity to Washington D.C. and Baltimore. Access to some of the largest U.S. cities, such as New York and Boston, has added a new dimension of urban awareness and involvement. Sue is the author of CITY. STORY. US.: A Journey of Resistance, Hope, and Surrender.

Appendix 50. BGU's Organizational Chart

BGU ORGANIZATIONAL CHART

Updated 12 January 2024

Appendix 53. BGU Certificates

Graduate Certificates

The Graduate Certificates are an excellent way for life-long learners to glean from what BGU has to offer without the commitment to a full graduate-level degree. Intensive Certificates are also a way for students exploring their interest to apply to BGU to sample up to 12 hours of BGU's courses in their area of interest while accumulating credit hours that could contribute toward a degree if they decide to apply. Those seeking an Intensive Certificate must complete an application and be capable of contributing to the courses at an appropriate educational level consistent with the matriculating students registered for the course (minimum of a BA degree for master's level courses and MA degree for doctoral-level courses) (www.bgu.edu).

If, after taking the required courses for the certificate, the participant wishes to convert the courses to apply to a graduate-level degree from BGU, official transcripts of the highest degree earned will be proof of eligibility. Once the participant is accepted as a student and is admitted into a program, he/she will pay the remaining tuition (calculated according to the degree into which the student has been admitted). Certificate credits may only be converted to doctoral or master's degree credits within one year from the date of the last course taken.

The cost of the certificate is the standard tuition fee of $500 per credit hour plus the $50 Admin Fee per course. All Overture courses (city immersions) require an additional onsite administrative fee ($450) and participants are responsible for their own travel, lodging, and meal expenses. The participants must participate in all aspects of the course (online and onsite if applicable), read and write all requirements and projects listed in each course syllabus at the level for which the participant would be qualified.

Graduate Certificate in Transformational Leadership for the Global City

An Graduate Certificate in Transformational Leadership for the Global City (TLC) is designed for leaders who are interested in being exposed to theological reflections around global urban issues. The Graduate Certificate requires a total of 12 certificate credits. The participant must take either one Overture (6 certificate credits) or the Transformational Leadership class (3 or 6 certificate credits) plus the remaining credits chosen from the following list for a total of 12 credits:

- ASM702 Personal Assessment (6 certificate credits)
- LDR714 Transformational Leadership (3 certificate credits)
- TOW701 Theology of Work (3 certificate credits)
- MCC710 Exegeting Your Community (3 certificate credits)
- MCC708 Cross-Cultural Engagement (3 certificate credits)
- OVI701 Urban Immersion (6 certificate credits in cities around the globe)

Graduate Certificate to Teach Theology of Work

An Intensive Certificate in Teaching Theology of Work may be obtained by professors who would like to improve their understanding of this vital area of Christian theology in order to teach it in their own contexts. The courses required for the Intensive Certificate are:

TOW 701 Theology of Work

TOW 702, 703, 704 or 705 as an Independent Study

TOW 706 Teaching Certificate in Theology of Work (must be completed last)

Graduate Certificate in Conflict Studies

An Intensive Certificate in Conflict Studies (CCS) is designed for leaders who are interested in being exposed to:

- (i) scriptural and related secular principles, practice and procedures in conflict resolution and conflict transformation (including conflict mediation, arbitration and alternative dispute resolution (ADR) applicable at work, in business, at home and in the church;
- (ii) sustainable peace-building principles and strategies that prevent unmanageable conflicts and avoidable disputes; and
- (iii) institutionalization of the peace process, which is critical for mainstreaming conflict resolution, early warning, peacekeeping, peace-building and peace works generally, at local, regional, and international levels; and incorporating the multi-track spectrum that ensures the buy-in of all sectors of society in the overarching holistic peace/shalom process.

The Intensive Certificate requires a total of 12 certificate credits. The participant must take the following three courses for a total of 12 credits:

BUS 712 Organizational & Business Dispute Resolution (4 certificate credits)

BUS 714 Peace Building (4 certificate credits)

BUS 716 Conflict Resolution (4 certificate credits)

Appendix 56. Referrals for New Students

Current BGU students may earn credit towards tuition for referring new students to BGU. When a prospective student completes an application, they would need to indicate which current student referred them to BGU on the application form.

After the student is accepted, enrolled, completed their course with a “B” or above, and is up to date and in good standing with their tuition payments, the referring student will receive a credit equal to the amount of one tuition credit cost on their (the referring student’s) tuition plan. This credit is non-cash and cannot be converted to cash. It is a credit toward BGU tuition costs and expenses as charged through Populi only. Any overages of this credit cannot be converted to cash and it is non-transferable between students, even for families.

Quarterly (the month after classes begin and end) these credits will be reviewed by the referral team (Director of Admissions, Associate Dean, and eLearning Director) and then credited to the account by the Director of Operations / Accounting.

When the prospective student “tags” the referrer, an email from the Director of Admissions will go to the referring student to let them know that they have a potential credit and that because of confidentiality, no other information will be shared about status of the referral by BGU staff.

Appendix 57.

Transfer of Non-Accredited Credits

Introduction

Graduate programs are specialized based on the mission of the university, faculty teaching and research foci, needs of the community, and enrollment. It is quite common that coursework completed at a previous institution will not “fit” in a graduate program at a subsequent school. BGU’s graduate and post-graduate programs seek to “strengthen leaders who steward resources with and for vulnerable people and places, by means of contextual, Christian-based education innovatively delivered throughout the urban world.” Therefore, requests from applicants to transfer credits from non-accredited institutions need to be framed within BGU’s mission and in accordance with BGU’s accreditation agency requirements (www.tracs.org).

Policy

Bakke Graduate University may refuse to recognize credits from an institution that is not accredited. The determination of accreditation is determined by consulting the United States Department of Education’s (DOE) list of approved accrediting institutions and/or the country’s approved list of accredited schools (<https://www2.ed.gov/admins/finaid/accred/index.html>). If a university is not identified as being properly accredited, BGU may still consider the transfer of credits for approved core and/or major course equivalents that have been successfully passed with a B or above (or equivalent, if another grading system was used). Pass/fail grades will not be recognized. Credit may be given for courses equivalent to the core courses required of every Bakke Graduate University graduate.

Upon the recommendation of the BGU Academic Cabinet and the Program Director to the Registrar, a maximum of 12 credits from an unaccredited institution may be counted toward the sought degree. Additional transfer credit may be considered if the quality of the education is sufficiently comparable to BGU’s requirements of up to a maximum of 50% of the BGU degree. These credits count toward hours required for graduation but do not meet any specific degree requirements. The transferability of coursework must follow the same principles required for the transfer of credits from an accredited institution.

The course(s) for which the transfer of credit is sought must be listed and described in the catalog offerings or other official publications of the unaccredited institution. The content of the course(s) must satisfy the degree requirements at BGU. No grades from non-accredited institutions are averaged into the cumulative GPA. Courses taken more than five years before admission to the student’s current program will not be considered for transfer credit. Under no circumstance will conferred credits used in one graduate degree program be transferred to satisfy the requirements of another graduate degree, i.e. if the applicant has actually been granted a degree, those credits may not be transferred in to satisfy the requirements for a BGU degree.

Credit Review Process

When seeking to transfer credits from a non-accredited institution, the BGU Academic Cabinet (AC) and the Program Director will review the courses for which transfer of credit is sought and will make the final recommendation to the Registrar if the courses will transfer. Should a candidate wish to have their courses reviewed by the AC, the candidate must submit the following to the Office of the Registrar:

- A letter indicating the specific courses for which transfer of credits is sought.
- An official transcript from the institution.
- Course descriptions and syllabi for each course to be reviewed.
- A graded project for at least one of the courses being sought for transfer credit.

The Office of the Registrar will then forward the course information to the corresponding academic department for their review. After the Office of the Registrar has received the recommendations from the corresponding department(s), all of the information will be presented to the AC. At that time, the AC may request additional information from the applicant.

Upon approval by the AC, the decision on each course will be sent to the Office of the Registrar, who in-turn will notify the student and record the approved courses on the transfer portion of the student's transcript.

Appendix 58.

Dissertation Languages

Because BGU has partnerships with organizations around the globe, there are instances when students may wish to write their dissertation in their native language. While BGU approves that practice, there are certain parameters that guide that practice.

1. All dissertations must be written using APA7 (or higher) format.
2. A qualified technical reader must be hired and paid for by the student who can check the final submission against the requirements of APA7 as well as grammar, referencing, etc.
3. The dissertation supervisor must be conversant in both English and the native language as well as hold a terminal degree.
4. The dissertation supervisor must be conversant in the requirements outlined in the most current Dissertation Handbook(s) (either DMin, DTL or PhD).
5. The final dissertation must adhere to all requirements as explained in the Dissertation Handbook(s) (either DMin, DTL or PhD).
6. The abstract of the dissertation must be submitted in English for BGU's website.

To obtain approval to write a dissertation in the student's native language, the student must fill out the Request Foreign Language form, have it signed by the dissertation supervisor and submit it to the Academic Cabinet for approval.

Appendix 59. BGU's Security Program

BGU's Security Program is designed to safeguard information as follows:

1. Ensure the security and confidentiality of student information;
2. Protect against any anticipated threats or hazards to the security or integrity of such information; and
3. Protect against unauthorized access to or use of such information that could result in substantial harm or inconvenience to any student (16 C.F.R. 314.3(b)).

The designated individual responsible for overseeing and implementing BGU's information security program and enforcing the program is the Academic Dean. The Academic Dean or his/her designee shall conduct a risk assessment to identify reasonably foreseeable internal and external risks to the security, confidentiality, and integrity of student information that could result in the unauthorized disclosure, misuse, alteration, destruction, or other compromise of such information, and assess the sufficiency of any safeguards in place to control those risks.

These minimum safeguards include the following:

1. All student files are maintained in a locked, fireproof cabinet;
2. All electronic student files are maintained in password-protected files; and
3. Only authorized staff members will have access to the financial information of the student.

On an annual basis, the Academic Dean or his/her designee shall conduct a test and/or monitor the effectiveness of the safeguards BGU has put into place. The Policies and Procedures Manual includes specific information about the security of student information and the safeguards that are in place. All new staff will be trained in proper procedures and safeguards for the security of student information. On an annual basis, the Academic Dean or his/her designee shall reinforce the policies at its annual staff meeting.

If BGU moves its student information system (SIS) from Populi, where student information is very secure, BGU will make every effort to ensure that the student information is held within the same level of protection. BGU may seek a computer program that encrypts customer information while in transit outside its system.

Appendix 60. BGU's Teach Out Policy

In the event that BGU is forced to close its doors or must eliminate a program, it has developed a policy to care for every current student to ensure either a teach out or transfer to another accredited institution to complete his or her degree. BGU currently has an agreement with several TRACS-accredited schools who would be willing to transfer in all credits toward completion of a degree. BGU will attempt to align the student with a school that has a comparable program to ensure a smooth transition. The other option is through a teach-out agreement with a partner school. Here are the differences.

Teach Out vs. Transfer

Teach out agreements entered into by BGU for its current students typically include protections that exceed what non-partnering institutions typically provide. These benefits include the following:

- automatic admission of current BGU students in good academic standing
- guarantee of 100% successful completion of credits at BGU
- guarantee same time to degree completion
- comparable net tuition (students with discounts would receive the same discount)

Many institutions accept applications for transfer students, but the process may not be as seamless or have the same guarantees as with transitioning to a partnering teach-out institution.

	Teach Out	Transfer
Admission	Automatic admission of current BGU students in good standing; no application fee	Student must apply for admission; acceptance is not guaranteed. Application fee may be required
Credit Transfer	Guaranteed acceptance of all credits successfully completed	Transfer institution must approve which credits will be accepted
Time to Degree	Guaranteed same time to degree completion as calculated at BGU	Time to degree may vary depending on how many credits are accepted and differences in academic program requirements
Cost	Guaranteed comparable	Student would need to apply for financial aid, etc.

Appendix 61. Mission Statement Defined

Bakke Graduate University
strengthens leaders who steward resources with and for vulnerable people and places, by means of contextual, Christian-based education innovatively delivered throughout the urban world.

Leaders: Every person is created with a role to steward their own gifts and opportunities, the earth's resources, and their relationships in their family, work, and community.

Steward: The awareness that we are created for the purpose of taking care of what we do not own – our gifts, opportunities, relationships, community, and lives. We are responsible to our Creator to take care of creation. We view the universal human experience of aspiring to what is greater than their reality through the Christian understanding of the 'fall of humanity.' Therefore stewardship involves redemption of the original purposes for our lives and for creation. We are to be focused on rebuilding all four of the primary relationships destroyed by the fall of humanity: (1) the relationship between God and individuals; (2) the relationship between individuals and ourselves, (3) the relationship between individuals and each other, and (4) the relationship between individuals and our environment. Redemptive activities engage the spiritual, psychological, sociological, economic, ecological and political realms. Stewardship involves both a personal example of renewed dependence upon God for our purpose and power, and increased focus on our role as 'caretaker' in our spheres of influence.

Resources: The people, gifts, circumstances, communities, insights, power, wealth, time, environment and challenges in our lives.

Vulnerable people and places: Those who experience fewer opportunities and greater needs than ourselves. Our task is not only to give to those in need, but to empower them to meet their own needs. We understand that need is exhibited not just in individuals, but in whole geographic-bound systems. We serve alongside, not over, those in need and in process, we learn of our own hidden needs and gain increased redemptive power in our own lives.

Contextual: Shaped by and in submission to the culture we are serving rather than the culture with which we are most familiar.

Christian-based education: Founded in the principles of Christianity as evidenced in the Bible, Christian history and tradition, and current expressions of the church that are consistent with these.

Innovatively delivered: Utilizing experiences, cultural immersions, diverse geographic locations and faculty, technology and advanced teaching methods. The emphasis is on education where the student not only hears about the concepts being taught, but also experiences the concepts first-hand through travel, peer-learning, modeling or application assignments. The goal of the experience is learning that inspires vision, impacts emotions, and affects the will as well as informs the mind. It is education that is delivered in a way that does not uproot students from on-going ministry effectiveness; it is affordable, and allows for a variety of learning styles and needs.

Urban world: In the largest cities of the world, involving the whole environment of the city from inner city to inner-ring and suburban neighborhoods, including the diverse and intersecting sectors of government, business, education, church, and non-profit. The urban world also includes ‘urbanization’ which is defined as the lifestyle of the city in any location.
